OMAHA, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Omaha Bee-News, in a copyrighted story today says Richard Gale Brophy, formerly second in command of Commander Richard E. Byrd's antarctic expedition, who disappeared in New York last August after leaving a suicide note, has been found in Omaha.

The former business manager for the famous arctic explorer has been working as a copy reader for the Omaha Morning Bee under the name of C. Manning Mitchell, the paper says, and adds:

"Identity of Brophy was revealed by a startling coincidence almost at the instant that the news was flashed of Byrd's flight over the south pole."

"Brophy severed connection with the Byrd expedition in New Zealand last March, and returned to New York. Then he disappeared leaving the following note:

"I am going to Coney Island. I am going to walk into the waves until they cover me and then I will be no more."

In Byrd Group Picture.

"When the news of Byrd's epochal flight was received, Brophy was reading copy in the Bee-News office. The night editor looked over a group of photographs of Byrd's crew. In one of them he recognized 'C. Manning Mitchell' standing beside Commander Byrd and Major Jimmie Walker."

"He looked at the picture again, then at 'Mitchell' busy at the copy desk. There could be no doubt that 'Mitchell' was Brophy. All the time Mitchell was reading copy, he had been identified as Brophy, unaware even that his former commander had flown over the south pole."

Telegrams were sent to New York, and Brophy's life was traced.

Confronted with the evidence, Brophy admitted his identity, the story says. With tears in his eyes, he told a story of how he had been seized with trouble after leaving the Byrd expedition, and had sought solace in making his identity."

"I only wanted to be placed," he is quoted, "My nerves were shattered. I was tired, distraught, unable to find relief from the pressure that seemed to hem me in."

To Fight It Out.

"So I foolishly considered suicide. I say foolishly because realization came to me while in the water at Coney Island that problems of this life are not to be solved by such an act."

"Having come to this conclusion I burned behind me all my bridges save one. I shall explain to my good and dear friend Commander Byrd just what this bridge was. At that time I shall divulge my thoughts of cowardice, and my three contemplations of 'ending it all.'"

"I have found rest in Omaha, but now that my secret has been discovered, I am going back to my old job, get my tangled affairs straightened out. I must begin where I left off on that day I went for a swim at Coney Island," Brophy said.

The theory that Brophy had committed suicide was abandoned when

Farm Life in Section Has All Factors Needed for Prosperity.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A well-rounded agricultural program to counteract a declining rural life in the south was recommended today in the annual report of the secretary of the interior.

"Investigations made by the bureau of reclamation in the south have shown conclusively that this section of the country has all the material conditions for an attractive and prosperous rural life," the report said.

"It has fine transportation facilities and is near the largest cities of the country. The climate and soil make it possible for this region to be self-supporting in an agricultural sense and to supply some of the most needed and most valuable products of the country."

"It needs, however, a well-rounded agricultural program. There are many sections which should be hopeful and prosperous which now have a declining rural life. This is wholly due to economic and human conditions which can and should be improved."

YOUTH MOVEMENT TO OPEN TONIGHTDr. E. M. Potat Will Preside Over Conference at Wesley Memorial Sponsored by Christian Council.

Sponsored by the Christian Council, Atlanta's Youth Movement is scheduled to get under way at a meeting at the Wesley Memorial church at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Dr. E. M. Potat, president of the Evangelical Ministers' Association, will preside over the meeting and Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta public schools, will conduct the conference and serve as spokesman for tonight's meeting.

Several hundred young men and women of the city are expected to attend the session tonight. Reports Saturday indicated a general interest over the city in the conference as a result of sermons from Atlanta pulpits during the past two weeks, directing attention to the youth movement.

The younger people of the congregations have been urged by the ministers of the city to take part in the gathering and similar messages have been carried before the high schools and other Atlanta organizations.

"Unquestionably there are conditions existing which, in the minds of older people at least, need some sort of constructive treatment looking to their improvement," conference leaders have said. In tonight's meeting they hope to discover the "mind of youth" with respect to such conditions and to acquire information which will lead to a final solution of the problem which has arisen by these conditions.

Dr. L. O. Bricker is chairman of the committee on arrangements and serving with him are Dr. W. H. Faust, Dr. L. W. Collins, G. B. Hinman and James Morton.

Britons Abysmally Ignorant
Of American Life, Perry Says

EDITOR'S NOTE—Alfred P. Perry, cable editor of the London office of Reuter's, famed news-gathering organization, is the holder of the Walter Hines Page newspaper fellowship and is spending a year in America under the terms of the fellowship. He has joined the staff of The Constitution temporarily. He has served on the staffs of the Los Angeles Times, the Washington Star and other papers in Kansas City, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Providence, R. I. The Constitution was selected without its knowledge as the representative southern newspaper on which he is to serve in getting a national acquaintance with American conditions.

BY ALFRED P. PERRY.

Many years ago a wise man said that one-half of the world knows not how the other lives. He was too cautious in his estimate. Nineteenth would have been nearer the mark. But for the English-speaking world his assessment of mutual ignorance is not far from the truth. Certainly, most Britons have the haziest ideas as to how their cousins this side of the Atlantic conduct themselves, though many have their strong suspicions.

Sometimes this ignorance is truly dismal. Consider, for example, one little word which stands for much that makes life beautiful in these United States. I refer to the polysyllabic word, suggesting in itself the whole procedure of illicit irrigation? The inconspicuous approach, the then struck by the brilliant inspiration that Speak might be an American family name like Dwight, he turned to Easy; but with no more success. Evidently Mr. Speakeasy was not a social register.

In despair, the searcher turned for help to the editor of an American newspaper agency in a nearby office. This gentleman had left his native shores when flaming youth did its petting in horse buggies; but he was always ready to be helpful. "Hm...," he pondered deeply, "probably it's the name of a place, not a man. One of these Indian translations, 'know, like, Minnehaha, Laughing Water. Gimme the garter.'—um, the nearest I can find is Specksky, and that's in Poland. Perhaps it's too small to be marked. Better try the American embassy; they may have heard of it."

The American embassy was rung forthwith. "Forgive me for troubling you," purred the seeker after knowledge, "but have you ever heard of a place called Speakeasy in the United States? Yes, S-P-E-A-K-E-A-S-Y. What?—hundred on Broadway? I don't understand. What...? Oh, Lord!"

Such ignorance of popular American institutions is, of course, deplorable. But it is not dangerous. Much more important is the deeper ignorance of the average Briton and of many public men concerning fundamental conditions and sentiment in the United States. That, perhaps, is only natural. The inhabitants of an island which can be traversed from end to end in one day can scarcely be expected to realize the great distances of this country and to understand the striking differences of sectional interest and outlook which spring from this fact of nature.

How shall the good citizen of Edinburgh, who may be reading the very same paper and contemplating a canny bet upon the very same horse as is his London friend eight hours to the south, comprehend the fact that a public question which stirs a New Englander to the depths can leave unmoved his fellow citizen in San Francisco, four days' journey to the west? And how may a man raised in an old civilization, where inward change is slow and custom strong, sympathize easily with the naive optimism and untrammelled experiments of a new world with few traditions?

Such natural causes of British misunderstanding might perhaps be countered by a good knowledge of American history. But the American history taught in most British schools would fill about one printed page. For an American child, the history of Britain before the eighteenth century is the history of his own race, and the wars of 1776 and 1812 are great national dramas. For the British child, American history before the Revolution means a few lines about the sailing of the Pilgrim Fathers; the war of American independence is overshadowed by the dramatic conquest of an empire in India and the New World 13 years before and by the outbreak of the French revolution 43 years later; and the squabble of 1812 is dismissed as a mere episode in the mighty struggle with Napoleon.

How sublime can be this ignorance of America's past may be suggested by an experience which befell two old aunts of the writer only last year in London. One afternoon they were visited by a young lady who was a distant relative of the late General Robert E. Lee and the ginia.

CAPE CHARLES, Va., Dec. 1.—(United News.)—Thundering through the night at a speed of 50 miles an hour, its ten coaches loaded to capacity with excursionists, a New York bound Pennsylvania train left the tracks at Onley, 35 miles north of here, early today bringing death to ten persons and injury to more than twenty-five.

Three of the coaches overturned after the speeding train struck a split rail. The dead included eight passengers and a brakeman, all instantly killed.

The fatalities marked the first instance of a passenger killed on the Norfolk division of the Pennsylvania in 45 years, according to R. K. Boone, Norfolk, of the traffic manager's department of the railroad.

The wrecking crash was accompanied by the shrieking of injured and frightened passengers, and by the low moan of a chilling wind. Rescue work was seriously hampered by the bitter cold.

Passengers who were uninjured aided in digging into the wreckage for the injured and dead. Physicians were summoned from near-by towns.

The more seriously hurt were rushed to the Nassawadox hospital in automobiles and ambulances.

List of Dead.

The dead:

R. Smith, sailor, U. S. S. Utah, Middletown, N. Y.

M. E. Biggs, negro, Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Francis Breyer, Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Lee Meyers, negro, Egmont, N. C.

Grace Eady, Norfolk, Va.

Narvon H. Galloway, New York.

Tariff Revision, Tax Reduction and Vase Case
First on List as Solons
Convene Today.BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Congress convenes tomorrow in the first regular session of the Hoover administration with a host of old and new problems commanding attention.

Tariff revision, coming over from the extra session called last April by Mr. Hoover, and tax reduction, recently proposed by the administration with the approval of the democrats, head the list of subjects and will receive first consideration.

So varied are the legislative proposals facing the session, however, that congressional leaders predicted today the meeting would carry on until at least next June. By that time the regular biennial congressional election campaigns will be under way and the top-heavy republican majorities elected with President Hoover a year ago will be up for the first test of his administration at the polls.

The sessions in both house and senate tomorrow will be confined to the opening formalities. On Tuesday the 12,000-word message prepared by Mr. Hoover on the "State of the Union" will be read and then the work will begin.

The republican-dominated house will plunge at once into the consideration of the resolution to slash $100,000,000 off the dues of individual and corporation taxpayers for next year. Its adoption by the end of the week is predicted.

Senate Less Certain.

The program for the session-split message was less certain tonight. On Tuesday it takes up, by previous agreement, the resolution of Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, denying Senator-elect Vane of Pennsylvania, a seat on account of his expenditure of more than $500,000 in his 1929 primary race.

It seemed certain that an attempt would be made to defer again the Norris resolution until the senate first could take up the contest brought by Vane's democratic opponent in the 1929 Pennsylvania senatorial election, William B. Wilson. The elections subcommittee which has been inquiring into that contest meets tomorrow to consider a report of it.

However, there is considerable uncertainty as to when the report on the Norris-Vane contest can be submitted to the senate, and Senator Norris announced today that he would insist upon going ahead on Tuesday with his resolution.

The committee investigating the Wilson-Vane contest must decide tomorrow on Vane's request for a recount of ballots in 31 additional counties. If the Vane case is not decided before March 21, a successor to him named by the governor of Pennsylvania could serve until the general election of 1932, when Vane's term would expire.

Back to Tariff.

Once the Vase case is settled, the senate will turn again to the unsettled tariff dispute. Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, is willing to lay aside the tariff long enough for adoption of the tax reduction resolution. It seems assured that the tax cut will be authorized before the Christmas recess.

Tariff, the Vase case, tax reduction and the annual supply bills will consume all the time until the Christmas recess. The senate apparently will not conclude the tariff bill before the end of January. Then a long contest

In an effort to prevent the theft of his automobile, Samuel H. Sullivan, 29, of 234 Haralson avenue, lost his life early Sunday morning when he was knocked from the running board of the car while scuffling with an unidentified man who attempted to flee with the victim's automobile, according to information furnished police by an eyewitness.

Possible fatal injury resulted from another Sunday accident, it was learned from police in report of a collision between a dairy truck and a freight box car at the belt line crossing on Boulevard, near Tenth street. Julius Moore, 22, of Clarkson, a dairyman, is in the Atlanta hospital suffering from a fractured skull received about 3 o'clock Sunday morning when the truck in which he was driving toward town with R. E. Granger, 19, of Brookhaven, another dairyman, struck a shunted box car, according to the police report. Granger escaped with minor injuries.

Sullivan received fatal injuries when the automobile to which he was clinging sideswiped a telephone pole in front of Sears, Roebuck & Company, on Ponce de Leon, about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, police were told. The alleged automobile handoff shunted the car and the victim was after the owner of the vehicle had been crushed against the telephone post and knocked to the ground.

No Statement Made.

In the attempted automobile theft, which cost the owner his life as he struggled to forestall the loss of his car, police were unable to obtain a statement from the details of the incident from Sullivan, because the latter never regained consciousness from the injuries, which consisted of a fractured skull, a broken right leg and internal brain injury.

The fatal crash was witnessed by Assistant Fire Chief O. J. Parker, of engine house No. 11, who had answered a "false alarm" in the vicinity of Sears, Roebuck. Parker reported details of the fatal scene he had witnessed at police headquarters, after summoning an ambulance for the dying automobile owner.

Car Moving Rapidly.

It was believed by police officers investigating the case that Sullivan was starting off in his car from where it had been parked, just in time to leap upon the running board. In his statement to police Parker said that the car, a small sedan, was moving at high speed by the time it reached the section of Ponce de Leon avenue, in front of the mercantile plant.

Apparently the driver attempted to frighten Sullivan and cause him to abandon his position on the running board, by turning the car toward the curb and brushing the side on which Sullivan stood against the pole on the edge of the sidewalk, police reports indicated.

Instead of straightening out, however, the car crashed into the telephone pole at a rapid rate of speed, knocking Sullivan from his position.

TAX SLASH BILL TO BE INTRODUCED ON OPENING DAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Already assured precedence of consideration in the regular session of congress, a measure to lower by $100,000,000 the nation's tax levies will be dropped into the house hopper at noon tomorrow by Chairman Hawley, of the ways and means committee.

The resolution, already prepared by Hawley, will be referred to his committee, where it will remain until Wednesday. The Undersecretary Mills, of the treasury, whose assistants drafted it, will explain its provisions. Chairman Hawley plans to obtain permission to submit the measure to the house for final action Thursday in the hope that it will reach the senate before the end of the week.

The proposal which already has the approval of the administration and of both majority and minority leaders of the two branches of congress will call for a flat 1 per cent reduction on corporation and normal individual incomes for 1929.

GEORGIA ALLOTTED $1,985,632 ROAD MONEY FOR 1931

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—Secretary Hyde today tendered an apportionment among the states of a fund of $73,125,000 authorized by congress as federal aid for construction of roads in the fiscal year of 1931.

Calling attention to President Hoover's suggestion for acceleration of public building programs to promote business, the secretary said state highway departments would be given authority to make immediate preparations for expenditure of the money. He added there still was an unexpended balance of $28,000,000 from funds previously apportioned, which, added to the new fund, made a total of $101,125,000.

Hand-Made Italian Layette Is Given To Baby by Decatur Camp Fire Girls

The Decatur Sadahnee Camp Fire Girls have been acting as messengers of international good-will to 14-month-old Virginia Minor, who was presented with a hand-made Italian layette at the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital Friday.

In November of last year, the local organization made a layette, each girl making a kimono and embroidering a wash cloth. They were sent to the American Needlework Guild, which in turn passed the outfit on to the Red Cross.

The Red Cross gave the layette to a girls' industrial school in Spoleto, Italy, which, in its turn, has sent a hand-made and hand-embroidered baby's wardrobe to the Decatur group.

The layette is a collection of infant apparel that any 14-month-old miss may wear with pride. A fluffy, white bonnet, a dainty, gauzy, starched dress, crocheted silk baby slippers, a satin bib, and canvas shoes are included in the equipment.

Little orphaned Virginia has been adopted by the society, pending her permanent adoption by mature parents. They will pay her frequent visits, make her Christmas, New Year, and birthday hilariously happy with gifts and attentions, and they will exert themselves to keep up her model wardrobe.

Brideless and Groomless Wedding Is Performed Here

Couple Shy, Lakewood Pastor Carries On Without Them

BY HELEN AND OLIVE PARISH.
The world's first brideless and groomless wedding was performed Sunday night at Lakewood Heights Baptist church.

By a priest, church, by the Rev. Seigle B. Ogil.
"This marriage is scheduled to be one of the happiest ever known, and I am sure that no divorce will follow," said Mr. Ogil, speaking of the thin-air couple which he had joined in the fictitious conjugal state.

Sunday's service at the Lakewood church came as the culmination of a series of three lectures, on love, courtship and marriage, delivered on successive Sundays. An article of furniture, a wedding ceremony and a marriage license were to be given away to any couple that would get married on the final evening.

All preparations for an actual wedding had been made, from the banking of the church with ferns to the furnishing of an automobile with an old shoe tied to the back tire. A console table had been provided as a nuptial gift to the benedict couple. One young pair in Lakewood Heights had about decided to assume marital ties, but suffered a sudden attack of cold feet as a result of the recent thermometer drop.

No flesh-and-blood pair presenting itself, Mr. Ogil called on the invisible couple, which showed no hesitancy in approaching the altar to the strains of the Bridal Chorus of Lohengrin. The minister went through the entire ceremony, pronouncing the invisible pair man and wife, blessing them, shaking hands with one unseen party, and even giving the other an audible smack.

The intangible duo readily acquiesced to all demands, admonitions and conditions of the institution which has locked them forever in the silence whether they have gone. They are at present enjoying their honeymoon, and Mr. Ogil announced that in the near future they will build their own home, an invisible red-brick bungalow.

One of the largest crowds ever seen in Lakewood Heights attended the marriage of the elements, and the size of the gathering was extraordinary at all three of the sermons. Mr. Ogil began his talk with a dissertation on the origin, purpose and effect on civilization of the institution of marriage, married the imaginary couple, and concluded with a discussion of the importance of newlyweds owning their own home.

Mr. Ogil's two preceding sermons dwelt on the boundless and enduring power of love, and on the lovers' land where the twain meet and walk, and smile together, learning to know each other before signing a contract that will unite them till eternity, as far as we know.

STEVENS IN RACE FOR COUNCILMANIC POST IN NEW 13TH

Through typographical error, the name of E. Stevens was inadvertently omitted Sunday morning from the list of candidates for councilmanic post in the new thirteenth ward, of whom two will be selected at the general city election to be held Wednesday.

Mr. Stevens was one of the earliest candidates to announce for the race and to qualify for the election. There are, in all, seven candidates for the two councilmanic posts, those in addition to Mr. Stevens being Ellis H. Barrett, Oliver Dolvin, J. M. Collier, W. C. Jenkins, William S. Elks Pay Annual Tribute To Departed Members

Memorial tribute to the members of the Atlanta Lodge No. 78, of the Order of Elks, who died during the last year was paid Sunday at Keith's Georgia theater with the annual elaborate ceremonies, witnessed by a large gathering of Elks and friends. The memorial sermon was delivered by L. Z. Turpin, of Columbia, Tenn., past exalted ruler.

In addition to the solemn and colorful rituals of the annual memorial services, the occasion was marked by musical selections arranged by A. Verdi and furnished by the Keith's Georgia theater orchestra, the Elks quartet and Nora Allen-Volpi. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. W. W. Memminger.

Departed brothers of the fraternal order whose memories were honored at the ceremonial Sunday were William B. Cody, Z. D. Andrews, Frank Roman, Edward J. Walker, E. R. Anderson, J. H. Vaughan, Hiram Moore Melone, Dr. Joseph Jacobs, Charles Samuel Davis, J. E. Butler, St. Elmo Massengale, Randolph J. Smith, E. J. Kuhlman, Charles E. Ryan, Holland Curran, Isaac Krick, George M. Hope, W. N. Mitchell and H. N. Goldsmith.

Opening the principal address of the day, Past Exalted Ruler Turpin said: "We are assembled tonight at the shrine of memory to pay our tribute of love to our absent brothers. Again the golden hour of recollection comes, and the tolling of eleven strokes has summoned all Elks to meet on sacred ground."

"There is no greater privilege of membership in our order," Mr. Turpin continued, "than to participate in the Elks memorial service. It is not only a beautiful custom that we observe from year to year, but it is a service of love and devotion in which the most sublime sentiment of a loyal brotherhood finds its highest and noblest expression. It is the heart of Elksdom disclosed in all of its beauty and in all its tenderness."

"But I believe that our absent brothers, if they could speak to us today, would have us turn our thoughts from individual merits and personal achievements to the consideration of the principles of upright conduct they endeavored to exemplify in their fraternal lives and the ideals of unselfish service they labored to uphold as members of our beloved order."

"First of all, they were American citizens. They believed in the destiny of our order because it is linked with the destiny of our country. They held high and sacred the fundamental principles of our government, they gave their undivided allegiance to its flag and their loyal support to its institutions. They realized that the strength of our government rests upon the preservation of its constitution and that the security of our nation depends upon respect for its laws."

AUSTRIAN PAPERS OF STATE REVEAL WAR PREPARATION

VIENNA, Dec. 1.—(P)—Publication today of extracts from eight volumes covering state papers on the Austro-Hungarian foreign policy from 1908 to 1914 disclosed hitherto secret events which led up to the European conflict.

The first part dealt principally with the efforts of Austria to annex Balkan states and the diplomatic conflict on this subject with Russia. Some chapters treated of reports by ambassadors of the hostility of King Edward of England to the annexation plans of Austria and his threat to send the British fleet to the Adriatic if an attempt was made to carry out the plan.

Later chapters promise disclosures of the outbreak of the World War and an effort to place responsibility for it.

MRS. J. W. LIPSCOMB DIES AT GREENVILLE

Prominent Carolina Woman
Succumbs To Heart Attack at Home.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Dec. 1.—(Special).—Mrs. J. W. Lipscomb, one of the best known and best beloved women of this city, died at an early hour Sunday morning a few hours after a heart attack. She was 66 years of age and had lived here practically all her life.

Mrs. Lipscomb was an active church worker, a member of the First Presbyterian church. She had retained all of her interest and much of her activity in church work until her death, despite the fact that she was blind for the last six years.

She was born in Anderson county, South Carolina, and was the widow of the late James W. Lipscomb, one of the pioneer business and civic leaders of this city. Mr. Lipscomb died some 10 years ago. He was the founder and president of the wholesale firm of Lipscomb-Russell Company.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lipscomb will be held Monday afternoon.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. S. B. Bright, of Greenville; Mrs. Ralph T. Jones, of Atlanta; Mrs. Mabry Norton, of Louisville, Ky.; and Mrs. Marion Mallard, of Hialeah, Fla.; two sons, John W. Lipscomb, of Greenville, and Lawrence Lipscomb, of Toccoa, Ga., and a number of grandchildren.

Pitcairn Aviation Installs Weather-Reporting Machine

Postmaster E. K. Large here is shown sending the first message over the new telephone typewriter installed by Pitcairn Aviation, Inc. Interested spectators are, in the center, L. D. Sandy, division manager, American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Gregory C. Bowden, chairman of the Aviation Committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Instantaneous communication between Candler field and all other airports on the Atlanta-New York air-mail line operated by Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., became a reality Saturday with the installation of a telephone typewriter.

Postmaster E. K. Large, of Atlanta, Saturday sent the first words over the new telephone typewriter at Candler field, a message of congratulation to Captain Thomas R. Doe, vice president of Pitcairn Aviation. Captain Doe received the message at the company's home office at Brooklyn, N. Y., and within two minutes a return message was typed out for Postmaster Large and telephone company officials who were present.

Use of the new communication system to secure last-minute weather information and in dispatching mail planes will be of inestimable value in the operation of the Atlanta-New York air-mail, according to John K. Ottley, Jr., southern representative for the company.

"Every field on the Atlanta-New York line can send a report on local weather conditions to Candler field within the space of a few minutes and this naturally gives the pilot a composite picture of the situation," Mr. Ottley continued.

"Another great advantage of the new communication system is that a message sent from any of the fields is repeated at all others, thus broadcasting within seconds information that may be of vital importance," it was pointed out.

Messages pass over regular long distance wires of the telephone company.

SEVEN MINERS DIE IN COAL BLAST, FIFTEEN ESCAPE

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Dec. 1.—(AP).—Seven coal miners were killed and 15 others escaped injury in a localized explosion in a drift at Old Ben mine No. 8 near here at 2:30 a. m., today.

The bodies of five of the dead were brought to the surface late today while rescue parties still sought the other two bodies. Rescue work was delayed because of smoke and gas fumes.

The death list announced by officials of the mine follows: James Tabor, Thomas McDermott, Veto Geridino, Jewell Baker and his brother, Dewey Baker, Earl Beardon and Henry Isaacs. All resided at West Frankfort except Isaacs, who was said to have lived at Johnson City, Ill. Isaacs was about 50 and McDermott about 60. The other victims were young men.

The other 15 miners were saved by safety devices which automatically released shale dust to localize the explosion in one drift. About one and one-fourth miles back from the bottom of the shaft none was injured and all were brought to the surface soon after the explosion.

GEORGIA SECTION OF CIVIL ENGINEERS WILL MEET TODAY

The Georgia section, American Society of Civil Engineers, will meet at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. John W. Officers of the Georgia section for 1930 will be elected at the meeting.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN ATLANTA HOTEL; INQUEST TODAY

W. A. Brown, about 25 years of age, was found dead in his room at a local hotel about 1 o'clock this morning. Call Officers C. G. Hardy and C. G. Hughes, who investigated, believe that he died of natural causes. Brown registered earlier in the night, designating his address as "city," and he had no baggage. There were no papers of identification in his pockets but his clothes and hat bore the trade-mark of a Meridian (Miss.) firm.

He called for the assistance of a bell-boy and when the boy reached his room Brown was dead, the police report states. The body was removed to Awtry & Lowndes undertaking parlors and an inquest is to be held some time today.

Mercury Rises To Normal; Rain Seen for Today

Comparatively mild weather which beamed upon Atlanta Sunday is scheduled to fade today and send in its place some rain. If the skies fail to weep today, they will Tuesday, the weatherman says.

Sunday morning was a little colder, with the mercury down to 20, than Mr. von Herrmann, the weather bureau prophet, said it would be. By 12 o'clock the church bells began to ring, though it was moderating, and the afternoon was also as he said it would be: altogether pleasant. The mercury ascended to 40 before the afternoon ended.

The outlook for the week, with the possible exception of rain either today or Tuesday, and maybe again Friday, is good. The temperature will rise gradually until Wednesday, when it will be decidedly colder again, and it will be warmer Friday.

HENRY P. MOORE, EDITORIAL WRITER, DIES IN AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 1.—(AP).—Henry P. Moore, 70, editorial writer for the Augusta Herald, died at a hospital here today after an illness of 10 days. The funeral will be held here tomorrow morning.

FORMER OWNER OF MACON NEWSPAPER

MACON, Ga., Dec. 1.—(AP).—Henry P. (Hal) Moore, who died in Augusta today, was at one time owner of the Macon News, an afternoon newspaper here.

Mr. Moore published the Macon News for three or four years, in the early 90s, but the paper went into the hands of a receiver in 1894 and it then was purchased by R. L. McKenney, the present owner.

After the local property was sold Mr. Moore returned to Augusta to resume his newspaper work. He was well-known in this community when he resided here 35 years ago.

'Vagabond King' Seats in Demand, Haase Reports

Manager Lewis Haase is wearing a broad smile these days, for ever since the first announcement that the outstanding musical comedy sensation, "The Vagabond King," was to open the Erlanger theater on Monday night, December 8, advance orders for seats have been coming in by every mail.

And to add to the managerial contentment, a telegram from the Erlanger brothers, managers of the Saenger theatrical circuit, was received Saturday, in which they stated: "Played George Wintz's 'Vagabond King' today to absolutely turn-away business—marvelous show, splendid cast, beautiful scenery and greatest chorus ever heard in Shreveport—you can boast this attraction to the limit—it will please 100 per cent."

The glorious, glamorous days of Louis XI of France will be brought back to thrilling life again in this swinging, vibrant musical drama of Francis Villon, "The Vagabond King," which will be seen at the Erlanger throughout the week of December 9, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Villon, a beggar, thief, a tippler, a libertine, a patriot, but for posterity a poet of unforgettable vitality, is the central character in "The Vagabond King," which, based on Justin Huntly McCarthy's "If I Were King," provides the composer, Rudolf Friml, with one of his choicest themes.

The story is interpreted by a large company, chosen from the New York, Chicago and Boston casts. The huge singing ensemble and the dancing chorus, as well as the orchestra, also were selected from the original three companies. Lush stage settings, brilliant and sumptuous costumes add to this stirring musical comedy. The intention of the producer, George E. Wintz, was to give the public the finest cast and the most perfect scenic production that has yet been seen on tour. Mail orders, accompanied by remittance, may be sent in now. Start-

ROAD IMPROVEMENT PLANNED BETWEEN MACON, SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 1.—(AP).—A special committee, of which Harvey Granger, of Savannah, is chairman, of counties along route 80 between Macon and Savannah, will confer with Chairman Tate of the state highway board on Thursday, December 5, about the prospects of hard-surfacing this route from Bibb to Chatham counties.

An attempt will be made to insure the letting of the contract. At present 116 miles of the route are in condition sufficient to permit hard-surfacing, says Mr. Granger, this including the entire distance from the Chatham county line to Swainsboro in Emanuel county; approximately 14 miles in Laurens county; 4.6 miles in Twiggs county; 1.6 miles in Wilkinson county; and 14 miles of the Tybee highway from Savannah to the ocean on the east. The remainder of the route in Chatham is already paved. This leaves 52 miles to be conditioned for paving in 1931, should the highway department let the contract for hard-surfacing for the balance during 1930.

The ANTI-FREEZE with 950,000 users!

It won't evaporate ~ No replacements ~ One filling lasts all winter

THOUSANDS of motorists are bullied by their cars all winter. They fear a freeze-up. They put in anti-freeze but it evaporates. They keep running for more solution. They worry every time they park their cars in the open or in an unheated garage.

Last year 950,000 motorists learned a better method. They tightened cooling systems, put in one filling of G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine and said good-bye to freezing worries for the entire winter. They knew glycerine couldn't evaporate. It won't boil off.

They were safeguarded for the season, not only against freezing, but against the worry and bother that ordinary anti-freeze solutions cause.

G. P. A. Radiator Glycerine offers the same dependable protection for your car this year. It meets all the U.S. Bureau of Standards requirements of a perfect anti-freeze. It has no odor, will not harm the car finish nor attack the cooling system.

One filling now protects your car for the entire winter. Get it today.

950,000 Motorists used it last year!

Think of the worry and trouble G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine saves. Put in one filling. Then park your car when and where you like all winter without a thought of freeze-up worry.

Won't evaporate. Put it in now.

Get full benefit of G. P. A. Radiator Glycerine's lasting positive protection. The sooner it's in your car the sooner your protection starts—and it lasts all winter anyway. Just follow the instructions on the can. Get it from your garage, or from any dealer displaying the G. P. A. sign.

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

A program of music in the Spanish manner, with Dolores Cassinelli, soprano, as guest artist, will be featured by the Oldsmobile-Viking Hour of the General Motors Family Party this evening at 8:30 o'clock over WSB and the N. E. C. coast-to-coast system. Miss Cassinelli will be accompanied by an orchestra with Frank Black as guest conductor. In addition there will be five members by a specialty group of guitars, mandolins, marimbas and strings.

Although the music for the program is in the Spanish manner, several of the numbers are from other than Spanish composers—proof of the saying among musicians that some of the best Spanish music has not been written by Spaniards. The march from "Carmen," by Bizet, a Frenchman, and the Polish Moszkowski's "Mazurka" from his only opera, "Bouffon," are among the orchestra numbers, as is "Los Toros" from "La Fera," by Lacombe, who was born in Honga, France, and who composed many of his most famous works in the Spanish manner. "La Fera" represents his impressions of Spain, where he spent many years.

Miss Cassinelli will sing three songs, all of which were written by Spaniards, one of them by De Falla, the most famous of modern Iberian composers. Her first number will be "Valverde's Clavellitos" (Carnations); the second the lilting "La Violeta," by Padilla, and the third Dr. Falla's song version of the folk dance "Jota." The detailed program follows:

Clavellitos Valverde

A group of old songs, sung by their Barber Shop Trio, will be the feature of the Ingram Shavers' broadcast through WSB and the N. E. C. system this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

"Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet," "Honey Boy" and "Rings on My Fingers and Bells on My Toes" are the three old favorites which the Ingram trio will present on this date. Other features of this broadcast include selections from "Rio Rita," "Paris," "Sunnyside Up" and the spectacular "Show of Shows."

TENNESSEE BANKER VICTIM OF ATTACK BY UNKNOWN MAN

UNION CITY, Tenn., Dec. 1.—(AP) Temporarily silenced by a bullet that lodged in his side, L. S. Parks, 63, retired banker here, was in a hospital tonight while authorities sought to determine who shot him, how, and why.

Jack Pugh, 24, one of Mr. Parks' attendants, said an unidentified man leaped on the running board of their automobile late yesterday and shot the capitalist in the side. Pugh was held in jail for investigation. He told authorities he believed the shot was intended for him instead of the retired banker.

Pugh drove Mr. Parks home and when he removed his overcoat it was learned he had been shot. He was in a semi-conscious condition and unable to talk. There were powder burns on his coat, indicating, officers said, he was shot at short range. There was no motive advanced for the shooting, one of the most mysterious in the county's history. Pugh insists he was driving his employer over a country road on an outing when a man leaped on the running board and fired into Mr. Parks' side.

BURNERS CANNOT USE AS MUCH NATURAL GAS

Alterations must be made in every gas burning appliance in Atlanta before it can be used to burn Natural Gas.

This change must be made; the openings through which the gas flows into the burners must be reduced in size so that they will allow only about sixty per cent as much gas to flow as they do now.

This company will make all the necessary alterations in standard household appliances, such as ranges and water heaters, free of charge to their customers at the proper time. This cannot be done in advance of the coming of Natural Gas, for the changes necessary would prevent the apparatus from giving sufficient heat with manufactured gas now in use.

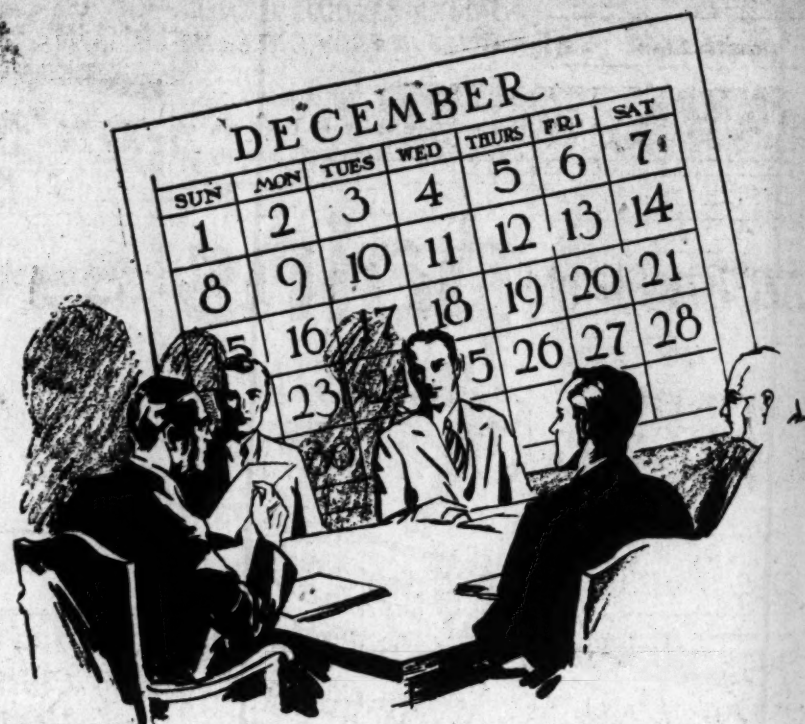

This work is necessary because Natural Gas is too rich a fuel to be used in the quantity that manufactured gas is used. It will not only be unnecessary but entirely impractical to burn a given amount of Natural Gas as fast as manufactured gas is normally burned.

This does not mean that the heating capacity of any appliance will be reduced—your flame will be just as hot, but you will not use as much gas to get the same amount of heat.

It will be unnecessary to ask that these changes be made, or to write or telephone the company about them. Already a large force of expert workmen is being trained to do this work quickly and correctly. They will reach your home within a short time after Natural Gas is turned into the mains in your district.

The effect of these changes will, of course, be that you cannot use as many cubic feet of Natural Gas as you have used of manufactured gas to get the same amount of heat.

Will You Give Your Salesmen Order Books....without "Dotted Lines" to Use During 1930?

WILL you urge your salesmen to lead prospects up to the point of "signing" and then tell them "to think it over"?...Of course you won't!

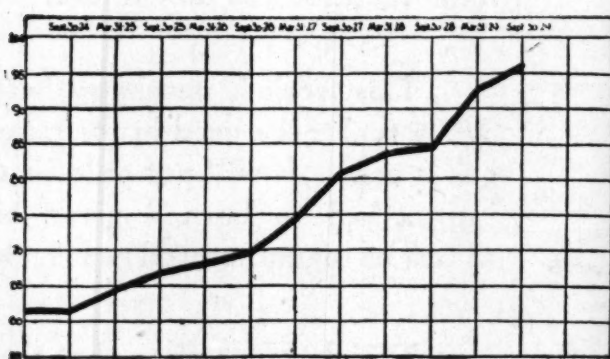

Then why ask your advertising to follow that procedure? Advertising in an afternoon paper virtually says: "Sleep over this matter, and then if you don't forget it tomorrow, why..."

Advertising in the morning Constitution declares: "Here is something to act on today." It is "dotted line" advertising!

No longer any need to use any other paper besides The Constitution to adequately cover the Atlanta market. Of The Constitution's daily circulation of 96,047 (largest in the entire southeast) 47,929 copies go right into the city itself. It is estimated there are only 51,464 white families in Atlanta, so you see what wonderful coverage you are getting.

Of the daily Constitution's total circulation, no less than 79,505 papers go directly to Atlanta's trading area (75 mile radius). In this district is concentrated 53.5% of the purchasing power of the entire State of Georgia! And this responsive market receives no less than 83% of The Constitution's daily press run.

Consistent gains during the past five years have firmly established The Constitution's leadership. The nearest afternoon paper is 14,000 behind! Supplementary advertising in the other papers has some value, but The Constitution can and will reach the folks you want to sell---alone!

The chart depicts the steady circulation gain of The Atlanta Constitution. No other Atlanta daily even approaches this record of growth!

Ask to see the latest (September 30th) statements to the Audit Bureau of Circulations of the three local papers. Those are the figures on which to base your advertising schedules. A phone call to Walnut 6563 will bring this information to your desk promptly.

Hectic Season Will Close on Southern Gridirons This Week

BULLDOGS ARE FAVORED OVER JACKETS

Football systems and football teams have a way of establishing themselves suddenly for no apparent reason and beginning long successful campaigns.

Back in 1926 after Vanderbilt had defeated the University of Tennessee 20 to 3, the Volunteers reacted smartly, won their succeeding game from Kentucky, carried the same spirit over into the next year and have swept on through 30 games without a defeat.

In 1927 after playing a scoreless tie with Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech hit the winning lick and rushed on through the rest of that season and all the next without a defeat.

And I have a hunch that this Georgia football squad with all its tremendous possibilities turned the corner in defeating Alabama last Thursday. From now on, the Bulldogs look very, very good. For the next two years, Georgia will be one-two.

UNIVERSITY OF HARD KNOCKS.

While taking their thumpings here and there in October and early November the Georgia sophomores were having the mis-information of high school fields displaced and nuggets of football wisdom inserted in the cavities.

They learned something about the unbelievable speed of certain halfbacks when they tackled at the Florida ball carriers and missed by a finger length.

They learned how much trouble offside penalties from over-eagerness can cause in losing to Tulane.

And late in the New York University melee they learned just how good they were on offense when they charged as one man and ran their plays just exactly as they had been told to run them.

They polished their attack at expense of Auburn and they did their stuff against Alabama with authority.

It looks as if the lads are underway. And it is hard to see how Georgia Tech can stop them. The Yellow Jackets will give them a more spirited fight probably than Alabama did, but the Yellow Jackets simply have not shown the power on attack nor the ruggedness on defense to subdue such a versatile foe as Georgia.

The game in Athens will be one to talk about for years to come. Tech will be making a desperate effort to salvage one more victory from the debris. And Georgia will be carrying on what they started at Birmingham. With favorable weather it should be a free scoring affair, with Georgia much freer than Tech.

AN OFFICIAL'S VIEWPOINT.

H. J. Stegeman, director of athletics at University of Georgia and a member of the football rules committee, has an article in The Constitution today that presents another side to what may be called the "official's problem."

Officiating has become a problem suddenly, probably because notice has been taken in the press of what was considered bad officiating.

Writers, including the conductor of this column, have questioned the system of selection, the behavior of coaches who select them, and the competency of the officials. In fact all save the honesty of the officials has been attacked to an extent.

STEGEMAN HITS BULL'S-EYE.

It is refreshing to have a man who knows officiating from the inside and the outside, who has been both official and coach, express himself. The entire article is commendable, especially the paragraph which bears out exactly the criticism stressed in more than one article in this column.

Mr. Stegeman says:

"There are many officials who know the rules to the smallest unimportant item who are not good officials. There are also plenty of men who do not know all of the intricacies of the rules who are fine officials and of these two classes the coaches would prefer the latter. Common sense and integrity with absolute rigidity when their common sense demands a penalty regardless of later circumstance are attributes of a first-class official."

This indictment of the martinet the "gridiron lawyer" type of official and commendation of the official who uses old-fashioned common sense and integrity is exactly what many of us tried to say, but said so awkwardly. What the country needs is not a good five-cent cigar, but an official with a good common sense view of the broad aspect of the game.

The gridiron lawyers and incurable exhibitionists in the profession make the good officials look bad. They so completely dominate the picture that good officials have a tough time being noticed.

I believe that in the end the histrionic, excitable official will die a natural death and will work at his regular job six days a week in the fall instead of five. And that with a central board of appointment, the matter of selecting officials will be systematized and relieved of all the attendant evils in the form of interference from coaches.

AND FINALLY.

One who visits here and there in conference territory these days and who might be suspected of knowing is asked repeatedly why Georgia Tech and Alabama parted company. That question seems to have the outlying districts all worked up.

There was nothing particularly complicated about it. Tech wanted Georgia to play their annual final game on the Saturday after Thanksgiving Day in the future. Georgia had a profitable agreement with Alabama for an annual Thanksgiving Day game, and there was no reason why that arrangement should not have been carried on indefinitely. And on the face of things Georgia could arrange no other date with Alabama.

Meanwhile Alabama had been arranging to play Vanderbilt on Thanksgiving Day as soon as the Georgia contract expired. Georgia appeared about to lose their Alabama game entirely and it was up to Tech to do something to show good faith.

So Tech passed up her own profitable game with Alabama to clear the tracks for the three-way deal.

There were none of the dark dealings that many have imagined nor are there many sides to the affair. So far as has been learned the only howl has arisen in Birmingham, where in one breath they say it was a shame for the Tech-Alabama games to be discontinued and that Birmingham will profit handsomely with another big conference game annually thereby.

HECTIC DIXIE SEASON CLOSES THIS WEEK-END

Tech-Georgia and Florida-Oregon Games Feature Final Round.

By Associated Press.

Next Saturday will mark the end of one of the wildest and most hectic football seasons the south has ever known.

Most of the teams are through, but three conference, one Southern Inter-collegiate Athletic Association and one inter-conference game remain to be played. They will be reeled off this week.

None of the Southern conference or S. I. A. A. games have any bearing on the title races which, apparently, ended when Tulane routed Louisiana State in the conference and Chattanooga defeated Oglethorpe in the S. I. A. A.

One of the week's big games in the south is the Miami inter-collegiate duel which brings the husky Oregon eleven all the way across the country to battle the Florida Alligators.

Inside the conference, Georgia Tech and Georgia wind up their respective seasons with their annual meeting at Athens. South Carolina journeys to Knoxville, Tenn., to engage Tennessee in another finale and North Carolina and Duke, Old Tassel rivals, will fight it out for the state championship in the new Duke stadium at Durham.

Southwestern Louisiana meets Louisiana Poly at Ruston, La., in an important state S. I. A. A. clash.

Maryland will ring down the curtain by tackling Western Maryland and Loyola of New Orleans are booked in the Crescent City and Richmond fests will see William and Mary and Hampden-Sydney in action.

Only a handful of teams braved the cold weather Saturday. South Carolina trounced North Carolina State, 20-6, at Raleigh in the lone conference tilt. North Carolina State hasn't won a conference game all season.

In the S. I. A. A. Howard ruined Stetson's perfect record with a 14-13 win and reduced the number of undefeated teams in the association to seven. Louisiana Tech is expected to work hard to get a 10-13 decision over Louisiana Poly.

Marsters Loses Scoring Honors

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Clark Hinkle's Thanksgiving Day spree, totaling eight touchdowns and two extra points in a game Bucknell won from Dickinson by 75 to 0, enabled the Bucknell battering ram not only to take the eastern individual scoring leadership from Al Marsters, of Dartmouth, but also to shoot into first place in the country-at-large. Hinkle's stampede for 50 points against this minor college opposition sent his season's total to 128, 20 points more than Marsters accumulated before suffering a fractured vertebra in the Yale game.

Although Marsters failed to hold the top spot, Hinkle's feat did remain second by a rather comfortable margin over Dowler, of Colgate, who scored two touchdowns in his final game against Brown to run his total points to 90. Ringle finished fourth with 83 points, and Niles, of Lowell Textile, sixth with 79.

Albie Booth, the blue streak from Yale, who finished in the tie for twelfth place in the individual list, was the only one near the top flight to score a goal from the field.

Player	College	Points	Goals	Field Goals
Hinkle	Bucknell	128	8	0
Marsters	Dartmouth	108	10	0
Dowler	Colgate	83	10	0
Ringle	Gallatin	79	10	0
Niles	Lowell Textile	79	10	0
Booth	Yale	79	10	0
Booth	Yale	79	10	0
Booth	Yale	79	10	0

Those four teams were chosen by Frank Anderson, director of athletics of Oglethorpe University, and arbiter for the G. I. A. A., as the four outstanding teams to play for the state title.

G. M. C. Boys' High and Lanier are undefeated but have ties on their record. Madison Aggies has two defeats on its record, but all the other northern division teams had the same number of defeats or more and fewer victories than Madison.

The Boys' High-Madison game promises to be the best of local prep affairs. Boys' High has won several of its games by forward passing, and Madison Aggies is reported to be outstanding as a passing team.

Robert Montgomery, Kentucky tackle, who suffered a severe neck sprain, left for Lexington late last night after treatment.

LANIER, G. M. C. CLASH FRIDAY

Two Teams Meet for Right To Play in G. I. A. A. Finals.

MACON, Ga., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Lanier and Georgia Military College football teams will meet on Friday of this week to determine the championship of the southern zone of the G. I. A. A. This much has been agreed upon, it was announced tonight.

Macon and Milledgeville are both bidding for the contest, but the teams are in a deadlock, neither willing to give in.

Frank Anderson, arbiter, has informed the athletic authorities of both institutions that he will visit both Milledgeville and Macon fields on Monday and determine then whether the game shall be played here or in Milledgeville.

Lanier and G. M. C. have a contract to meet each year, alternating in the cities where the games are played. Lanier played at Macon this fall, hence Lanier officials contend that the play-off should be here.

It was agreed to leave the matter to the arbiter of the G. I. A. A., it was stated, and an announcement will be made tomorrow night as to where the contest will be staged.

Purple Begin Practice Today.

While a large number of prep athletes are turning their thoughts to basketball, Boys' High football players will be hard at work for the next four days preparing to meet Madison Aggies Friday afternoon. The game will be played at a day which will be the semi-final in the northern division of the G. I. A. A. title race.

Lanier High, of Macon, and G. M. C. of Milledgeville, will meet either to be announced later, in the southern division and the winner of this game will meet for the state title.

Those four teams were chosen by Frank Anderson, director of athletics of Oglethorpe University, and arbiter for the G. I. A. A., as the four outstanding teams to play for the state title.

G. M. C. Boys' High and Lanier are undefeated but have ties on their record. Madison Aggies has two defeats on its record, but all the other northern division teams had the same number of defeats or more and fewer victories than Madison.

The Boys' High-Madison game promises to be the best of local prep affairs. Boys' High has won several of its games by forward passing, and Madison Aggies is reported to be outstanding as a passing team.

Browns Seek Ban on Radio

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1.—(AP)—P. D. C. Ball, president of the St. Louis Browns, plans to request the American league to prohibit broadcasting of American league baseball games next season. He said today he would lay the matter before the American league meeting in New York the week of December 3.

The Browns permitted broadcasting of their home games last season and it is Ball's theory that this cut down attendance at the games.

Players Honored

FAIRFAXVILLE, Ark., Dec. 1.—(United Press)—Nineteen variety football players today were awarded "A" sweaters for their play this season by the University of Arkansas.

Tech's Big Tackle and a Fine Substitute

At the left is Vance Maree, Tech's famous tackle, who is back at his old position after playing at fullback for most of the games this fall. He will be in action against Georgia. Saturday at Athens. At the right is Bull Millians, a substitute tackle who has played good football. He has been handicapped by ankle injuries but will be ready for the Bulldogs.

'The Rock' Worked Hard To Avenge '28 Losses

About 100 Men Participated in Elaborate Spring Practice Which Produced Winner.

Mr. K. K. Rockne's Notre Dame football team, with the four defeats of last season avenged, is in retirement at South Bend leaving a trail of gnashing teeth behind it.

This was not the greatest machine which "The Rock" turned out but it was a peculiarly versatile one and one which possessed that admirable faculty of coming through in the old clutch. Which, after all, is the test of a great team.

At the conclusion of the 1928 season Notre Dame had been defeated four times. Georgia Tech had administered the worst defeat, shutting out the Irish 13 to 0. Wisconsin, Carnegie Tech and Southern California also won.

The story of Notre Dame's comeback, with practically the same men who lost last fall, is one which shows the Rockne system at its best.

It was a spring practice which pulled "The Rock" through and made this fall's team one of the best that ever stepped in Irish toggery.

Rockne's system depends not on legerdemain or anything smacking of magic, but rests on thorough and systematic work such as any business man might employ in building an organization.

Defeat last season on "The Rock" and he planned what was perhaps the most thorough campaign that football has known. To win the games this fall Rockne used seven football teams.

Frank Thomas, former Notre Dame back and now assistant coach at Georgia, explained the system by which Rockne averaged his 1928 defeats.

His campaign involved a long and arduous spring practice and the use of about 100 men, about 70 of whom served solely to condition and prepare the varsity squad.

Rockne selected three men in the spring as the ones he would use for actual play. He then turned the remaining forty-four men over to the assistant coaches and supplied them with accurate reports of all opponents to be met this fall.

It was determined that Wisconsin, Carnegie Tech, Southern California and the University of Chattanooga had been set for November 22, 1930, to be met in Atlanta.

Birmingham-Southern, Howard College, The Citadel, Wake Forest and the University of Mississippi will also probably be played in 1930 by the Mercer team.

Dean Wray also reported last night that Mercer's annual game with Oglethorpe University had been set for November 22, 1930, to be played in Atlanta.

For the dates of October 15 and October 25, Florida officials are seeking to fill with conference opponents. No inter-conference games are planned on the 1930 schedule.

Florida To Play Auburn in 1930

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Florida and Auburn will meet in Jacksonville on October 11, 1930. Charles W. Bachman, athletic director, announced here tonight.

This makes the fifth Southern conference game scheduled thus far for the "Fighting Gators" for next season. Their schedule completed today follows:

October 11—Auburn at Jacksonville.
November 1—Georgia at Athens, Ga.
November 8—Alabama at Gainesville.
November 27—Georgia Tech at Atlanta.
December 6—Tennessee at Jacksonville.

For the dates of October 15 and October 25, Florida officials are seeking to fill with conference opponents. No inter-conference games are planned on the 1930 schedule.

RED AND BLACK TEAM AT PEAK FOR LAST GAME

Jackets Must Improve Fast If They Are To Stop Bulldogs.

By Ralph McGill.

Over in Athens, county of Clarke, there will be quite a bit of bustling about this afternoon. The Georgia Bulldogs begin work for the Georgia Techs this afternoon and there is a mighty desire to be better than ever on Saturday, the day of the game.

There seems to be a very fine opportunity for the "Hallelujah" song of the Bulldogs to become a fact this week. These college songs are difficult enough to understand at best but after careful listening it seems to me that the "Hallelujah" song ends up with something about wrecking Tech. Forecasts based on the results of past games are precarious enough but somehow there doesn't seem to be any other way than to establish Georgia as a two-touchdown favorite.

TWO TOUCHDOWNS?

Far be it from me to do the six-point boys dirt, but the Bulldogs look about that much better than the Techs. If they don't win by that much it will mean that they have skidded backward quite a ways this week. It will also mean that the Techs have advanced more than the 70 per cent over their form in the Auburn game, about all that could be expected.

Georgia offered a team in the Alabama game that was as good as any team in the conference. It had reached championship form late. But it was there. The Bulldogs made no mistakes, they were alert and intelligent. And above all they were mean. I would not have had mothers thinking that the game is making their boys harsh and a bit difficult to understand the finer things of life. That is not the idea. I mean that when the Georgians were tackling the Alabama backs they let loose. That is to say they tackled very rudely and harshly and they made the Alabama backs a bit sensitive.

HARD TACKLING.

All pictures of that game show at least one Georgia man in the air in full flight and pointing to an Alabama man who had the ball.

Now, when a 170-pound man in full flight connects with a 180-pound man rushing along on the ground, the man on the ground gets quite discouraged. Georgia was playing a vigorous game and that means the Bulldogs were hanging the Alabama backs to death.

In the line the Georgians were playing a masterful game. They burrowed right under the heavyweights on the Tide forward line.

There is no good reason why the Bulldogs should take a rest this week. If they do they may walk away wiser and this prediction will be the subject of rude letters and unkind remarks. But there is no reason to beat out the Bulldogs. Georgia looks like the big shot in the Saturday game.

Out at the Flats there is a heroic battle going on. The threads of team play, broken somewhere, are being sought. Coaches at the Flats would swap their most prized possession to have the Tide back in the game.

A new system of attack was inaugurated. It showed with fair success against Auburn.

Still, it hardly seems possible that the Jackets can move forward in four weeks with new plays when the ones they have now have failed to win after months of practice. It simply doesn't seem to be in the books for the Jackets this fall.

Vance Maree's EDGE. The one Jacket lineman who appears to have an advantage against Georgia. The two touchdowns he has shown to better advantage than Tech's pair.

Georgia ends have gone along in great fashion after the first three games. Georgia's backs have been advancing right up to the line of scrimmage.

They have not had to abandon it. They have shown progress in swap game except for the period when injuries had some of the regulars out.

Georgia's pass attack has been one of the three most effective in the south. The game should be one of the most bitter and close of the year. It may be the hardest fought. Georgia is a defeated on their new field. They dedicated it with a victory over Yale.

Yet the Jackets will be playing out their souls to win. And they may. But their chance is slim. It looks like a Georgia year.

Bulldogs Start Practice Today.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 1.—The Georgia defense that stopped Albie Booth, of Yale, and Branch, of North Carolina, and silenced the big guns of Alabama will start to work tomorrow on a defense to hold in check a little giant from Georgia Tech known as "Stumpy" Thomson.

For three years "Stumpy" has been the cause of much sorrow in the Bulldog camp. He has been to Georgia what Bob McWhorter was to Tech from 1910 to 1914, an unstoppable ball carrier. The stocky little half-back has played against Georgia three times and three times he has seen to it that the Gold and White was floating above the Red and Black when the timekeeper ended the game.

The Bulldogs are expecting no easy game with Tech next Saturday. The memories of a little giant sticking to the ground like a taxiderm and carrying his team to 12-0-0 victory over Georgia while everyone else on the field was slipping and falling over themselves are still fresh in Athens.

And there are those still living (though they might not have recovered from the financial shock) who remember that Georgia was a 3-to-1 favorite on that cold and wet December afternoon and that the Bulldogs were playing for the national championship. People in Athens have not forgotten.

TENNIS PROS SET TOURNAMENT FOR SEPTEMBER

Holding of Open Affair Hinges Upon Acceptance by U. S. L. T. A.

By Vincent Richards.
International Tennis Star.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—A special meeting of the executive committee of the Professional Lawn Tennis Association, held in New York to discuss an open tennis championship.

If the proposed amendment sent recently by the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association to the various members of the association is passed at the annual meeting next March, it is the hope of the officials of the professional association to hold the open tennis championship at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, L. I.

There was considerable talk at the meeting concerning the tournament schedule next year. The tennis fans in general, and would leave little doubt that the greatest tennis player in the world at the end of the season.

Another important item taken up at the meeting was the financing of the professional players who hope to compete in the various professional events scheduled for next summer.

After prolonged discussion it was decided to put through a bond issue among the members of the association so the professional body will be assured of a reasonable entry from the foreign professionals. This was quickly passed, which means that tennis lovers in this country will probably have their first opportunity of seeing such stars as the Burke brothers, Naudich, Riamillon, Richter, Pina and Negro. It is my guess that these players will be a revelation to the public in this country.

UNCERTAIN EVENT.
The holding of the professional championship at the West Side Tennis Club next summer is apparently uncertain. This is due to the heavy schedule of events held at the club during August. Several members of the board feel that the turf will not stand up under such continual play, and for that reason it may be that the professional body will award the championship to be played at some other club.

I understand that several clubs have been bidding for the tournament and around the New York district, and that in addition the Chicago Town and Tennis Club would like to hold the third professional lawn tennis championship of the United States.

Another question freely discussed at the meeting, and tremendously vital to the future of the professional game, is the putting of the limit on the turning of an amateur into the professional ranks.

It is felt that many amateurs might be tempted to turn "pro" the day of a big event, which would really mean that they were playing amateur tennis for a part of the season and professional tennis for the remainder.

For this reason the members of the executive committee of the professional association felt that a time limit of six months after the turning of an amateur into the professional ranks is necessary to prevent such practice.

PROPER MOVE.
There seems little doubt that this was the proper move, and that under the circumstances, but it is my opinion that the rule will cause plenty of backfire if open tournaments become a reality.

Unquestionably the matter was brought up because of the case of B. L. C. Norton, who turned professional last winter and played the Palm Beach championship. Immediately after winning the tournament Norton applied for reinstatement in the amateur ranks, but for some reason he has never been taken back. The definite writing into the by-laws of a six-month rule will stop cases of this kind.

Arkansas Schedule.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 1.—(AP)—The University of Arkansas will meet Texas A. & M. here in a football game on next October 25, it was announced here tonight, following receipt of a telegram from Coach Fred C. Thomsen. It will be first appearance of the Aggies here.

Square Garden Gives Away to Bike Race; Fields Is Booked.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP)—With Madison Square Garden closed to boxing because of the six-day bicycle race, the national cutluffer industry strikes a sharp slump this week.

The only first-rate fight on the national schedule will be at Chicago tomorrow night when Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, meets Billy Light of St. Paul, in the 10-round windup of the weekly White City card. Fields' title, however, will not be at stake.

A Philadelphia favorite, Benny Bass, crack junior lightweight, takes on Jose Martinez, of Spain, in the 10-round feature at the Philadelphia arena tomorrow night. Eddie Shea, Chicago featherweight contender, meets Young Montreal, of Providence, in a ten-round at St. Louis Tuesday night, and Tommy Grozan, Omaha, and Joe Bick, Brooklyn, lightweight, will furnish the chief 10-round entertainment at San Francisco Friday night.

Other bouts on the national schedule include:
MONDAY—New York, Bob Olin, New York, vs. Joe Bantz, Birmingham, N. Y. lightweight, 10 rounds.
Andy Divodi, New York, vs. Jackie Phillips, Canada, welterweights, each 10 rounds.

TUESDAY—At St. Louis, King Tut, Minneapolis, vs. Joe Kefman, New York, lightweight, at Los Angeles, K. O. Christner, Akron, Ohio, vs. Les Kennedy, Long Beach, heavyweights, 10 rounds.

WEDNESDAY—At Akron, Gorylla Jones, Akron, vs. Nick Testa, Troy, N. Y., welterweights, 10 rounds.

'ROCK' GETS HIS REVENGE and if he has a noggin and the ability to teach he has a lot he can show them.

IN THE SOUTH.
Of course Mr. W. A. Alexander, the Man at the Flats, and your Uncle Dan McGugin, up in Nashville, Tenn.-O-See, not to mention several others, would be glad to try this system of play if they had the men. When they have fifty men out for the variety they know they will have five good football players, ten pretty fair boys and some thirty-five tryers.

Now a tryer is a fine boy and deserves much credit. He will play on scrubs for three or four years and may be seen running in at dusk in some game where the home team is several miles ahead.

The opposing guard will take him out fifty yards or, he be a back he will lose five yards for the glory of Alma Mater. Still he is a tryer and deserves the plaudits he gets. But as a help to the football team he does a good job.

GOOD SYSTEM.
It is a very fine system and it works, but it demands much material of a high class order. The southern teams and very few of the teams in the west and middle west, can have that sort of preparation.

That, of course, is "The Rock's" goal. To do the same thing.

It seems that not only did "The Rock" win all his football games, but he won a moral victory over Bill Roper at Princeton. Bill Roper was arguing last winter that spring practice was a snare and a delusion. He said, did Mr. Bill Roper, that he would prefer that his boys play at baseball, golf and track.

Mr. Rockne dissented. Mr. Rockne won all his games. The least said is soonest mended. The better, spring practice won on points. Yes, indeed.

GEORGIANS START WORK

That first glimpse of Thomson in the fall of 1928. The Georgia Bulldogs leading the baby Jackets a small margin and only five minutes to play when the Jackets' halfback gave warning to the Bulldogs that he was going to be a source of trouble for years to come by taking a punt from one of the Bulldogs backs and carrying it through the entire team for a touchdown and not being satisfied with that he broke loose and ran with the ball to the end zone.

While the Georgia coaches are working out a defense to seal against the Jackets, the Georgia supporters in this section of the state are thinking only of Thomson. And hence the popular cry: "Stop Slump."

Smith certainly earned warning on the boys in Portland. He stepped out and did two 67s for his first two touchdowns for the season, and this put him so far ahead of the field that he carried home for the first prize of $1,200, which I was lucky enough to get in on, as were business partners in that tournament. I have been fortunate in Portland. Last year I was touring with Johnny Farrell and he won the first prize in the Oregon open. The title was won that year by Dr. O. F. Willing, but Johnny and I got the money.

This only goes to show that I pick my partners with great care. I am certain that the galleries which followed the amateur golf championship at Pebble Beach were far from dense, and I feel confident that our efforts in the P. G. A. championship will be appreciated by an enthusiastic gallery and beautified by many girls from the Hollywood studios. As a matter of fact some of our younger professionals, such as Smith, Johnny Farrell, Wood, Ed Dudley and Frank Walsh are quite as handsome as I am, and more so than the juvenile leads of Hollywood.

P. G. A. TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

Leo Diegel Looks Good for Defense of Crown, Says Hagen.

By Walter Hagen.
British Open Champion.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 1.—No golf champion ever was better prepared for the defense of a title than Leo Diegel, who will face the professional field in the twelfth annual playing of the Professional Golfers' Association championship at the Hillcrest Country Club, starting Monday.

This will be the first national professional championship ever contested in southern California.

Leo has been on here two months, as he is the professional at Agua Caliente, just beyond the border, in Mexico. A championship course is being built at Caliente, but it is not ready for play, and Diegel has been spending his time in Hollywood and playing all his golf at Hillcrest. He is making 65, 68 and nothing worse than 70s in his practice rounds.

PURSE OF $10,500.
The championship will have a motion picture background, for Joe Schenck, motion picture producer, has guaranteed year purses of $10,500, which outside the title will be the spoils of the battle.

Hillcrest is a busy course, with new players arriving every day, and many of them are the first class players known motion picture actors playing with the professionals.

Hillcrest has for years been one of the most popular of the Los Angeles courses. It is in the short side, and I am one who does not believe distance is the best test of championship golf.

Hillcrest provides a course 6,500 yards long, with a par of 72. The land is rolling, and the fairways and greens, because of the $20,000 worth of water poured on them each year, are green and soft and the stand out like jewels against a landscape well burned by the sun.

Players with an accurate short game and a good touch on the greens will be well off. Even the shortest hitters among the professionals will be able to get far enough off the tee for the requirements at Hillcrest.

64 PROS READY.
Sixty-four players qualified for the championship in many sections of events, and they will compete in 36-hole medal play round to determine the 32 to continue in the match play. Unlike the amateur championship, all the matches are at 36 holes.

There have been only five professional champions in the 12 years of competition. Jim Barnes won twice, Gene Sarazen twice, Jack Hutchison and Leo Diegel once each, and I have had the title five times.

Diegel looks very good to me. My other favorites are Horton Smith and Tommy Armour.

Smith, who won $14,700 in prize money last year, has started the season with a first in the Oregon open and a second in the tournament at Honolulu, and already has piled up a little more than $2,000. The tournament year starts in October.

Craig Wood, New Jersey professional, who won one tournament last year, and who has looked like a good golfer for some time, has started with a bang, winning the Oklahoma open and the Honolulu open.

CAGLE GREATEST SINCE GRANGE, ZUPPKE SAYS

Brilliant Army Flash Has "It" on Gridiron, Says Illinois Coach.

By Coach Bob Zuppke
Football Coach, University of Illinois.

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

"Red" Cagle, of the Army, is the best back I have seen since the days of that other famous "Red," the incomparable Grange.

I give this opinion after having seen the West Point star play against Stanford in New York last season.

Cagle is the first player I have seen since Grange who has the right and then, without hesitating to get set, throw a pass with power directly forward at right angles to the line of his run. Nearly all passers have to get set before they can throw on the run, and Cagle's ability in this respect is remarkable.

The Army back does not run with the large movements of Grange, who took such long steps and moved with such smoothness, and, in fact, you did not realize how fast he was traveling until you contrasted his speed with that of his pursuers.

A GREAT GAINER.
When Herbert Reed called Grange a "ghost" he expressed the impression of ease of movement which Grange gave you. Cagle gives more the idea of speed in jerky flashes. You might think he runs faster than Grange, but this is not so. However, even if he can gain through smaller openings than the first "Red."

Grange was more cautious and careful in his passing, and Cagle's ball is harder to hold.

Some players appear to better advantage on a winning team, but Cagle, like Grange, has the fighting heart of the truly great athlete. When I saw him play Stanford was piling up a large score on the Army but this lessened in no way Cagle's courage, aggressiveness and determination. He was dangerous every time he had the ball, and Army could have scored if teammates had not dropped some of his passes.

A GILDA GRAY.
In one of his runs near Stanford Cagle was tackled by a player who grasped him, but every time he squirmed loose, until finally he was brought down by three of "Pop" Warner's men tackling him at the same time.

Cagle can keep his feet, the mark of truly great backs. Almost always their feet are good-sized. Grange has big feet, and Cagle has big feet. Cagle weighs 167, about the same as Grange, but the Illinois "Red" looks bigger and taller. Cagle is stockier than Grange, who has what might be termed a "flatter" build.

A necessary attribute of the great back is ability to stand the wear and tear of battle. Grange did it, and so has Cagle. He played the entire game against Stanford and apparently stood the gauntlet.

The knowledge that they are facing a back who is likely to break loose on any play keeps the other team worried every minute. This is especially true in the case of Cagle, who has the reputation of being a "slippery" back.

ADDS ZEST TO GAME.
The appearance of a player of the caliber of Cagle adds zest to an approaching game. It is one of the things that makes a game so interesting to the fans. Cagle is a back who is likely to break loose on any play keeps the other team worried every minute. This is especially true in the case of Cagle, who has the reputation of being a "slippery" back.

There are many officials who know the rules to the smallest unimportant item and can quote them verbatim, but who are not good officials. They are the arbiters of a first class game. When a coach recognizes these features he will stick to an official, no matter what happens.

There is no question in the realm of sport that can compare in difficulty with that of a football official. A baseball umpire stands still doing his job, but a football official is in constant motion. He is a man of sport that can compare in difficulty with that of a football official. A baseball umpire stands still doing his job, but a football official is in constant motion. He is a man of sport that can compare in difficulty with that of a football official.

McEver Leading Dixie Scorers

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Running up 97 points in eight football games, Gene McEver, Tennessee's star back, apparently has won the individual scoring title of the south.

With but a few games remaining this season there is little likelihood that the Tennessee flash will be overhauled. He has made 16 touchdowns, negotiated 1 point after touchdown and has yet another game in which he could make a record by scoring 10 points in a single game.

However, against conference opponents alone, Barker leads McEver. The Green demon has 77 points, with the Knoxville touchdown manufacturer 10 points behind.

Officiating Standards High on Dixie Grids

Stegeman Believes Officials Have Done Good Work Which Is Appreciated by Knowing Fans.

By H. J. Stegeman,
Director of Athletics, University of Georgia.

The question of officiating in the south has been brought to the attention of the public more in this fall than in any other season I can remember. I suppose this is because the public is getting more and more interested in football and of course understands the game better. I am sure that the average fan knows the football rules much better this year than ever before, and consequently the work of officials has been brought more into prominence. I hope that this better understanding of the game will bring with it a more sincere appreciation of officiating, when it is as good, than we have noticed in the past.

The prominence into which officials have been brought has given rise to two impressions that I believe are erroneous, and should be counteracted. The first is that it is a common thing for a football coach to talk to officials and attempt to poison their minds about the opponents, suggesting that the officials pay particular attention to certain individuals or formations, with the expectation that they will begin the game with some prejudice against these players or formations. I am certain that there is very little of this thing in the south.

It may be that some individual coaches have made a point of this sort of strategy, but there are many men in the entire south who would do this. The attitude of coaches in this section of the country toward each other is too pleasant. Moreover, the coach who expects to get sympathy from an official by talking to him about his opponents before the game gets the strictest work from the officials toward his own team.

There are very few coaches who would risk their chance of incurring an official's disfavor.

PLAYERS DON'T MIND.
The other impression that has been created is that penalties inflicted on individual players affect their attitude toward a game, and that the element of fear caused by a severe penalty will last for a long time, even into subsequent games. Nothing can be farther from the truth. The players and anyone who has ever engaged in athletic games of any sort will substantiate my statement.

Every good football player knows that there is a strong line between hard, rugged play and the type of play that calls for a penalty, and no player ever has any reason to doubt that he has crossed this line or not. Practically all players are so well-coached nowadays that they understand all of the possibilities of a penalty, but I have never seen one else whether a foul has been committed or not. I have never seen a man slow up on his legal tactics on account of a penalty, but I have seen lots of men drop illegal tactics immediately following a penalty. You can't fool the average college football player today about that sort of thing.

I doubt if there ever was a truer statement than that of an old football student made some time ago in regard to the question of fouls. The man said that the more a man understood the less he said about officials. Every one who has studied the game knows that in many cases the question of a fraction of an inch often causes decision that thousands of people disagree, and yet, when the official is correct, the trouble is that the result of the investigation and the study of the question is never made known.

Moreover, there are mighty few football coaches left who would lower their dignity enough to attack the referees. A coach who does this is one else whether a foul has been committed or not. I have never seen a man slow up on his legal tactics on account of a penalty, but I have seen lots of men drop illegal tactics immediately following a penalty. You can't fool the average college football player today about that sort of thing.

The game Saturday is regarded as the University of Florida's all-American big football contest in 1929. The stadium has a seating capacity of 29,400, and dispatches from that city indicated a large attendance.

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 1.—(AP)—University of Oregon's Webfoots were in San Antonio today, en route to Miami, Fla., where Saturday Coach John J. McEwan's yellow and green shirted horde will tangle with University of Florida in an intercollegiate football game.

The Webfoots, after strenuous workouts here to perfect their aerial game, left the campus Tuesday for San Francisco, where Thursday they played St. Mary's of California, losing 25 to 7.

Leaving San Francisco Thursday night, the team stopped at Yuma, Ariz., and San Antonio for brief workouts. Twenty-seven men were taken by Coach McEwan, but he was minus great Kitmiller, quarter, who suffered a broken ankle in the state championship game with Oregon State College.

Major Segrave Works on Boat

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Sir Henry Segrave has begun the building at Cowes, Isle of Wight, of "Miss England II," with which he hopes to win back the British international speedboat trophy from the United States and set a new world record at De Witt in 1930. The new boat was designed in collaboration with Fred Cooper, who is equipped with two Rolls-Royce engines developing 4,000 horsepower.

Sir Henry stated he expected to attain a speed in excess of 100 miles an hour and hoped that the boat would be launched by May.

'Rock' Pleased With Victory

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 1.—(AP) Knute Rockne is a happy man because his boys—the members of the Notre Dame football team—conquered the Army, and a slightly regretful man because he had been unable because of illness to go to New York to see them close a perfect season.

"I was up in bed, with a radio and a table full of books nearby, and wearing a big smile, a far from melancholy Rockne said. "My boys were splendid not only yesterday, but during the whole season."

"The game went just about as I figured," he said. "Anyone that picked the Army for a pushover didn't know what he was talking about. The Army never is soft, and against Notre Dame it is always at its best. There's tradition there, that's what makes great football games."

"From the radio account, it was a very even battle, with Jack Elder's interception of that pass the only break. Our forward pass defense was hot today, and that beat the Army."

Rockne said he was glad the season is finished, "for now I can settle down and get in shape to start moving around again." He described the season as the toughest a Notre Dame team has been through, and said he didn't believe he ever would attempt another schedule so difficult.

Rockne said he expected to be out of bed in about two weeks, then will spend about a month regaining his strength before leaving for Florida with his family.

TULANE, UTAH ALSO HOLDING STRONG CLAIMS

Green Wave Breezed Through Season With Out Defeat or Tie.

By Alan J. Gould.
Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Football's frozen finish today finds the gridiron forces ready for winter wars, and one of the biggest money yet waged for championship honors.

All factors considered, Notre Dame, Purdue and Pittsburgh probably can claim the biggest share of the gridiron laurels for a season of spectacular individual performance and record-shattering crowds in nearly every sector of the battle front. These three great arrays each finished tough schedules without defeat or tie. Each displayed a powerful line and great backfield.

IRISH HAD HARD ROAD.
Purdue, winner of the Big Ten title for the first time, was hand pressed only by Iowa and Michigan in sweeping through the eight games triumphantly. Pittsburgh's closest call was against Nebraska, but the Panthers won the battle front, the only around scoring punch of any team in the country against first class opposition. Notre Dame dashed through the gridiron schedule with a record of 100-0-0, the only team to win all its games.

Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Purdue not only figure in a three-cornered argument which has no definite basis for settlement, but they have to contend with the claims of at least four other outfits. Tulane in the south and Utah in the Rocky mountain area also topped off a fine season without the trace of defeat or tie.

Utah, Christian in the southwest, and St. Mary's of the Pacific coast, had only a single tie apiece to mar otherwise brilliant campaigns. The same thing was true of Tennessee.

No matter where they may be rated nationally, and all have strong claims for consideration, Tulane, Texas Christian, Utah and St. Mary's dominated the performance of their respective sections. St. Mary's turned in a better record than any one of the famous California "Big Three" to make it a great claimant.

Last season the New Year's Day game at Pasadena helped the share of the debate in favor of Georgia Tech, victor on that memorable occasion over California, but there was a number of interesting games yet to be played in the west and north. The campaign of 1929 finished the campaign of 1929 with a ruck, beaten no less than five times.

ELDER IS HERO.
Jack Elder's sprinting, coupled with O. M. Opportunity, was the chief factor in saving Notre Dame from being rudely jolted from the top in its final game against the Army. Elder's 102-yard dash against St. Mary's at the Yankee stadium, with Captain Red Cagle and Johnny Murrell leading a sensational charge, the soldiers threw a real scare into the Hoosiers.

Notre Dame's victory was only because one of Cagle's aerials found a nesting place in the arms of the fleet Elder. It was a great victory for Notre Dame, line, which, with the bareheaded Jack Cannon and pugnaeous Ted Twomey, kept the Army from capitalizing three scoring chances.

CARNEGIE REPORT.
Whatever the influence of the famous Carnegie report on subsidizing and recruiting of college football stars, it obviously had no effect upon the drawing power of the gridiron game. Nor did the much-discussed new rule rule extract the long-run thrills from a sport that in the east alone witnessed such climax runs as Dick Gentile's 102-yard gallop against Cornell and Jack Elder's 100-yard dash through the Army.

Booth, Cagle, Marsters, Hinkle, Follett, Unnas, Feller, Wigan, Carideo, McEver, Parsons, Leland and Lane were among the stars who registered long dashes for touchdowns in a season notable for its swift turns and "breaks."

Miss Margaret Bryan Weds Evans Joseph in Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Dec. 1.—(Special.)—A marriage that will come as a big surprise to their many friends was that of Miss Margaret Bryan to Evans Joseph, both of Atlanta, which was solemnized at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. S. McCallie on Oak street in Chattanooga. The ceremony was witnessed by a group of intimate friends of both parties.

Beauty and simplicity characterized the wedding ceremony performed by the Rev. Dr. McCallie, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church and chaplain of the city of Chattanooga. The simple ring service was used. The spacious living room in which the wedding took place was brightened by vases and baskets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The charming bride, a brunette type, wore a becoming ensemble of hunter's green, a smart hat of Paris design, in the same shade, with other accessories to match. Her shoulder corsage was of orchids and violets. Mrs. Herbert Porter, matron of honor, wore an attractive gown, a lovely creation made of hunter's green velvet, with harmonizing accessories. Her shoulder corsage was sweetheart roses and violets.

Other attendants were: Herbert Porter, advertising director of The Atlanta Constitution, who was best man; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McGill, Mr. McGill being assistant sports editor of The Constitution; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Weinman, of Cartersville, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whitaker, of Chattanooga. Mr. Whitaker is a son of General M. N. Whitaker, criminal court judge of Hamilton county.

Mrs. McGill was becomingly attired in a dark blue crepe frock, a stunning blue hat, suede shoes the color of which harmonized with her costume. Her flowers were sweetheart roses and violets.

Mrs. Weinman wore a late creation of hunter's green crepe with hat and other accessories to match, and Mrs. Whitaker was charming in a black velvet gown, with accessories designed in the same color. Her shoulder bouquet was sweetheart roses and violets.

Both the bride and groom are representatives of prominent Tennessee families and have enjoyed wide popularity in Georgia and Tennessee. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Winstead Bryan, of Atlanta, and Thomas Campbell Bryan, of Washington, D. C. The late Judge M. T. Bryan and Mrs. Bryan, of Nashville, Tenn., were the bride's paternal grandparents and the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Winstead, of Nashville, were her maternal grandparents, these well-known Tennesseans being pioneer leaders in this state.

The bride's only brother is M. T. Bryan, of Atlanta, and she is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. James William Bryan, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Johnston, of Asheville, North Carolina.

Since moving to Atlanta twelve years ago the bride has enjoyed extreme popularity in that city's social realm and has been a fêted belle in a number of southern cities where she has visited.

Mr. Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Joseph, of Nashville, members of leading families in Tennessee. He attended Vanderbilt University, where he was a popular member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Following his return to France, where he served for 17 months with the American Expeditionary Forces during the World War, he became connected with the Nashville Banner in the editorial department. He left The Banner a few months ago to accept a position on the advertising staff of The Atlanta Constitution. Mr. Joseph is numbered among the leading young newspaper men of the south and since going to Atlanta to reside has become actively identified with that city's civic, social and business life.

Out-of-town members of the bridal party motored to Chattanooga Sunday morning.

Preceding the wedding, members of the bridal party were entertained at a luncheon in Chattanooga at the Hotel Patten. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph will be at home in Atlanta at the Hotel Biltmore after a brief stay at the Fairland Club, a picturesque private clubhouse situated on top of historic Lookout mountain.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

REDDY FOX MAKES A DISCOVERY.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.
He'll never find much who stays at home; Rewards are for the ones who roam.—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox was hungry. It was nothing new for Reddy to be hungry. If any one knows what hunger is, it is Reddy Fox. There are times when for long periods Reddy doesn't get a bite to eat. But Reddy is not the kind to be discouraged just because he is hungry.

Reddy stood in his doorway and tried to make up his mind where he would go hunting that night. Winter had come and winter usually means hard times for many of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. This is especially true of the meat eaters, for they cannot store up food; it will not keep.

"It is going to be a fine moonlight night," said Reddy to Mrs. Reddy, who had just joined him. "I think I'll go exploring tonight."

"What do you mean by exploring?" asked Mrs. Reddy.

"I mean," replied Reddy, "that I'll go hunting where I have never been before; or at least where I have not been for a very long time. The Green Forest, and the Green Meadows haven't given us much of late and it seems a waste of time to hunt over the same old ground. So I think I'll go farther from home this time."

"A good idea, Reddy, a very good idea," said Mrs. Reddy. "Shall I go with you?"

"No," replied Reddy. "No, my dear. Why don't you go in a different direction and explore? That will double our chances of finding a good hunting ground. Then tomorrow night we can go wherever the hunting is best."

Mrs. Reddy nodded her head approvingly. "That suits me," said she. "You go one way and I'll go another way and between us we ought to find something. My, my, but I am hungry. A mouse, a good fat mouse, wouldn't be a bite. I want a good fat hen or a good fat duck."

Reddy grinned. "I feel much the same way," said he. "I can't think of anything in all the Great World that would make me quite so happy as a good fat hen, unless it were two good fat hens. Well, it is time we were off. Watch out for dogs, my dear, watch out for dogs. Don't take any chances."

Mrs. Reddy chuckled. "That's good advice, Reddy," said she. "That's very good advice, but if we didn't take any chances we wouldn't get a bite. Well, here's good hunting to you."

"And to you," replied Reddy as he chattered. "I'm afraid we would starve. Life seems to me very much like one

"That's good advice, Reddy," said she.

trotted off along one of the cowpaths of the Old Pasture.

Reddy knew just where he was going. There was a distant farm he had once crossed a long time before. He hadn't hunted there, but he had always kept that farm in mind as a place where he would hunt some time. There were chickens there. Reddy had heard both that time when he was crossing the farm. He didn't know anything about how well they were protected. He meant to find out tonight.

So Reddy trotted along, keeping always in the shadows. It was a long way to that farm and several times he was tempted to stop and hunt by the wayside. But he didn't. And so at last he reached that farm. Then Reddy became very, very cautious.

There were lights in the farmhouse, so Reddy waited. He wouldn't go too near until those lights were out. Not far from the barn was an orchard. They were old apple trees, big ones. Reddy made his way over to the Old Orchard. As he stole along in the shadows he heard a movement above him. He looked up. He saw a dozen great dark masses against the sky. He knew what they were. They were "Turkeys" roosting in a tree!

GOSPEL-SPREADING URGED BY POTEAT AT SECOND BAPTIST

An appeal for the "consecration of personal conversation of Christian people to the spreading of the gospel" was voiced by Dr. Edwin M. Poteat, president of the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' Association, in his sermon Sunday morning at Second Baptist church, of which he is pastor. His subject was "Yeast."

Dr. Poteat stressed the direct communication of the fire of personal faith, from each individual believer to those about him, as the scripturally preferred method of extending the Christian kingdom.

The minister deplored the excessive growth of institutionalism in Christianity which, he said, has tended to form an unyielding crust over the loaf, retarding the expansion of the leaven of personal and individual faith.

Dr. Poteat explained the essential difference between Buddhism and Christianity in his sermon. Sunday night, basing his analysis of the Oriental belief on his study of it during five years as professor in Shanghai college, China. Buddhism, he said, contemplates the death "of" self through suppression of all desire, even for life itself, and seeks its goal in an indefinite nothingness. Christianity, he said, offers death "to" self as an object of interest through the definite historic experience in the death of Christ on the cross, opening the way to unselfish service unimpeded by selfish desires.

MICHIGAN'S WAR DEAD ARRIVE HOME IN SNOW

Special Train Brings Bodies of 56 Men To Resting Place.

DETROIT, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The last of Michigan's war dead came home today. A cortege that started in the dark swamps of north Russia came to rest here this afternoon in a blinding snowstorm. It brought the bodies of 56 men who lost their lives in stern arctic fighting 11 years ago.

A special train, festooned with mourning crepe, transported the solemn burden. A long row of flag-draped caskets were escorted from the station to the city hall to the beat of muffled drums and the muted strains of a funeral dirge. Church bells tolled as the procession moved slowly through the streets. Sidewalks were lined with bareheaded crowds.

Marching beside the hearses were the comrades of those who slept so many years in the desolation of north Russia. Ahead and behind them strode hundreds of uniformed representatives of veterans' organizations and the regular army.

At the city hall, state and city officials, heads of the Spanish-American War Veterans, the American Legion, Disabled War Veterans and the National Guard waited in the bitter cold and driving snow to pay final homage to the dead. In a compact little group before the speakers stand were the relatives of the dead. Sobs shook mothers who last saw their sons marching gallantly away to war in 1918. Fathers stood bareheaded in weather typical of the meager funerals held in the Russian tundra, when their sons were lowered into bleak graves as their comrades whistled taps through frozen lips.

A casket containing the body of an unknown soldier was placed on a dais before the reviewing stand. The crowd which flowed out in a great mass over Campus Martius uncovered as one man. Bands played the national anthem.

On behalf of the people of Michigan Governor Fred W. Green received the bodies of those sons of the state who did not return until today.

Purdue Is Winner Of Stock Judging Trophy at Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—(AP)—For the third time in the 30 years of the International Live Stock Exposition, a team from Purdue University today won the Intercollegiate live stock judging contest. Competing with teams from 20 other colleges, Purdue's quintet scored 4,385 points out of a possible 5,000 to defeat Ohio State University, in second place with 4,383, and Oklahoma A. and M. college, winners three times in the last four years, in third position with 4,380.

The Oklahomans remained among the first prize winners, however, when P. Swaffler led the individual judging with 927 points of a possible 1,000. D. E. Teegardin, of Ohio, was second, and J. H. Douglas, of Purdue, third.

Purdue was just a year late in its race with Oklahoma for permanent possession of the huge bronze trophy given by the stock yards to any team winning the contest three times. Oklahoma's triumph last year gave them the prize and started the struggle anew, with the Indians holding the new award until the 1930 show. Purdue also won the annual cup given by Sir Thomas Lipton.

TENNESSEE SOLONS TO GATHER TODAY FOR EXTRA SESSION

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 1.—(AP) Called into extraordinary session to remedy a deficit expected to approximate nearly $4,000,000 before the next regular session in 1931, the Tennessee general assembly will meet tomorrow to receive from Governor Henry H. Horton plans for balancing the state's budget within a year.

After the deficit has been wiped out the governor will recommend that the increased revenues provided for in his program be used to counterbalance the loss of revenues resulting from the proposed lifting of the 20-cent property tax, the repeal of which he seeks to become effective after 1930. Elimination of the tax on land was one of the campaign pledges of the governor.

M'BRIDE PREDICTS EARLY PROHIBITION AID

Says Congress Will Strengthen Act and Provide Money.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(United News.)—Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, predicted tonight that the new session of congress will pass legislation to strengthen the prohibition law and appropriate sufficient funds to enforce it.

"The congress that will convene in regular session tomorrow is the first in the history of the prohibition movement," McBride said. "Despite the terrific attacks against prohibition by the wets for 10 years there has been a steady increase in the number of dry senators and representatives."

"No wet measure has the slightest chance to pass in the present congress. Necessary enforcement appropriations and legislation required to strengthen the dry laws can be passed with decisive majorities in both houses."

McBride said "the famous beer quartet of Bruce, Edwards, Edge and Reed" will no longer be heard in the senate and while attacks will be made on the dry law the legislators will make wet speeches for the sole purpose of influencing voters in the home districts.

"After 10 years the wet group in congress is not only smaller than ever before, but has utterly failed to unite upon any plan to take the place of enforcing prohibition or the solution of the liquor problem."

To lighten your burden

LITTLE more than a generation ago wise purchasing—even of the family's necessities—required a great deal of time and effort. Manufacture was limited. Exact articles for particular needs were hard to find. And often one product after another had to be tried before the right one was found.

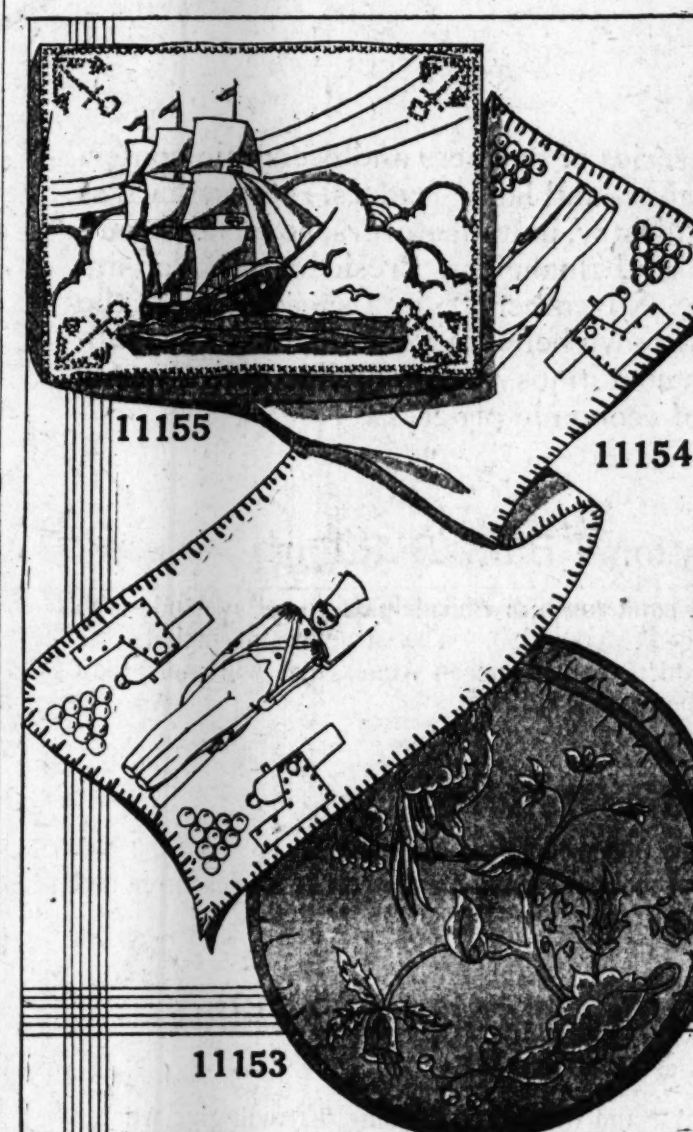

Today—manufacture that seems limitless has filled our stores with excellent articles of every nature. There are many brands for every need. The discriminating buyer can choose from a great array of goods that are continually being spread before his eyes.

But to buy wisely one must read the advertisements. In the pages of The Constitution progressive merchants and manufacturers are telling you—truthfully and concisely—about their products. They are anticipating your needs. They know that they must meet your exacting requirements.

Read the advertisements regularly and carefully. They are the daily measure of business progress. They are the means to discriminate buying. They will help you to get the greatest value for every dollar you spend.

The advertisements in The Constitution are a most valuable guide to wise buying

Mexico To Continue Retrenchment Policy, President Gil Says

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—(AP)—President Portes Gil in a statement today said Mexico would continue a strict policy of retrenchment in an effort to balance its budget, but added this would be impossible until the problem of public debt had been settled.

Negotiations have been opened with international bankers for settlement of the international debt with the view of settling all pending foreign claims in a block, while a special committee has been appointed to take up the claims of natives in order to clean up the internal debt.

BY PAUL HERVEY FOX

INSTALLMENT XXV. MAKING A NIGHT OF IT.

On that evening when Bruce had rolled away with Suzanne beside him, and Kathleen in the rear seat, Tom Davies had remained in his deserted home for only a short time.

He had at first been profoundly depressed. The loneliness of the house where he had been so happy got on his nerves. And gradually, as he began to reflect, there came over him a certain anger against Suzanne.

He had had his qualms about carrying out Bruce's wild stratagem, but that was all gone now. He did not examine the motives that had led her to leave him, or the events that had brought this about. All he knew was that he felt put upon and resented it.

All right then! He'd have a good time! He'd enjoy himself. He looked at his grim face in the mirror and changed into another suit.

He caught a theater train into the city and went at once to his club.

The doorman took his hat, Tom stepped into the lonely rooms. The club drunk leaned up against the bar; the club bore lay in wait like a crafty spider. Where were all the revellers, the gaudy of bachelor freedom, that he was so determined to enjoy?

He escaped from the bore and the drunk and went up to dine. His steak was tough, and he recognized no one among the few people that lingered in the dining room.

He tried to think of names. He had been living in such retirement that he had no friends any more, he had not kept up with any one.

Of course there was Joe Galbraith. He called up Joe and heard his stut-ter of welcome.

"Put yourself into a cab and come on up. We're having a little party. Expect you right away."

Joe Galbraith lived in a big studio apartment in the West Fifties. As Tom got out of the elevator, he heard, even through the heavy door, the sounds of a photograph and loud talk.

Joe greeted him violently, tore his hat off, threw it into a corner, pushed and pulled him into the big room. Tom knew most of the men there, but the girls were strangers to him. They were all quite pretty, all very glittering and flashy and vivid. Walking in from the corridor was like suddenly walking back stage during the performance of a musical comedy.

Girls—mysterious creatures of the race of Suzanne and even Kathleen, making up their lips, smiling, frowning, sitting in chairs, chattering away. Tom studied them almost wonderingly. They seemed to belong to another species, he thought.

Joe put a glass in his hand, yelled his name by way of introduction, and left him to amuse himself.

There was a tall, slender girl near him, with a bright red mouth and rather pretty eyes.

"O Lord," she drawled in a southern accent, "I hope no one suggests going to Luigi's."

And at the same time a voice from somewhere howled:

"Hey! Let's all go down to Luigi's!"

"Where's Luigi's?" Tom asked. She stared at him. "You from the country, big boy?"

He shook his head, finished his drink, took another from a tray, swallowed that.

"I'll say you're thirsty," she commented critically. "Well, Luigi's is a place where they sell headaches—and that's what you're looking for, isn't it?"

He was amused by her slow drawl and the way she lowered her eyelashes. He assumed proprietorship over her as the party piled into cabs and shot downtown.

Luigi's was, Tom found, just one more restaurant. Joe Galbraith ordered recklessly.

"Caviar, Luigi! Generous portions, Luigi! And a round of cocktails—your own, dashed with absinthe." He caught sight of Tom across the table and grinned. "Take care of my little friend, Vera," he shouted to the girl. "He's just out of short pants today, and that's why he's so grown up."

Vera made a face. She smiled up at Tom.

"Don't mind him," she said. "He's crazy. I like you. I think you're nice."

Tom drank more. His head began to spin. He was making a night of it, having a good time! Wasn't this a good time? He was doing it to punish some one or other. Poor little Suzanne! How badly he had treated her! But he'd show her—he'd show her he was a man and would do as he wished. He was head of the family. He wouldn't be tricked out of his rights, no sir!

"Drink up!" he shouted to Joe Galbraith, lifted his glass and gulped it down again.

Vera was telling him something. "Cut it out—you've had enough. Your off eye is beginning to look funny. And let's get out of here. Come on, big boy."

He bowed solemnly, rose, and went swaying down the room between the tables. Faces blurred before him. He thought he heard some one laugh, and he scowled and doubled his fists. He felt Vera punching him jocosely but smartly.

"O, come on—you're not one of the fighting kind, are you?"

He rode uptown with her, his arm around her shoulder. He puffed at a cigaret and let the ashes fall where they would. Then he found himself in a small apartment, overdecorated, with a smell of incense in the air.

Vera had left him. He heard her somewhere. She came back with some black coffee.

"Drink this," she commanded. "There's plenty more. I'll do you good. I just rescued you in time."

She smiled. "I don't know why I did, but you didn't belong. I wanted to have you all to myself. Just you and me, big boy."

He looked around the apartment with a wandering eye. His head was throbbing, but some of his confusion was gone. She met his eye significantly.

"My friend is out of town," she said, adding savagely: "Thank God!"

"Don't you like him?" Tom asked. "He's all right," she said shortly. "I suppose you're married," she ended.

He nodded. "I was, up till this afternoon."

"O!" Her eyes took on a look of understanding. "I've run away—you want to play, and you don't know how."

"Maybe."

She studied him thoughtfully. "Now, if I were your wife I'd hang on to you. She must be a fool."

"No, I'm a fool."

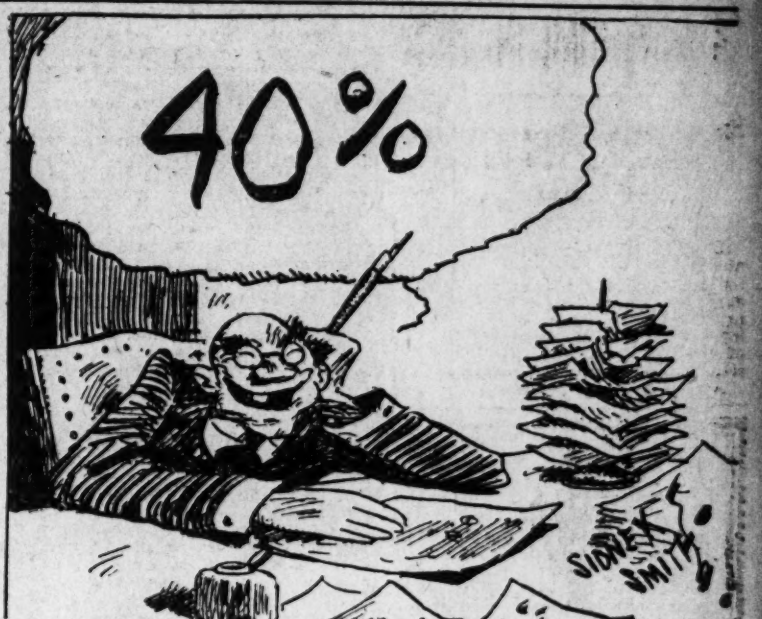

He said it so humbly, that a laugh of tenderness, a laugh that was somehow maternal, broke from her. She went over to him and put her arms around his neck and kissed him.

MUCH RELISHED AT THIS SEASON

Probably at no time in the year is sausage more relished than at this season, when the people spend more time out in the open, and fresh air and travel sharpen up the appetite. Sausage also is quickly prepared and is well liked by the majority of American people as well.

Atlanta is the home of several good sausage companies, one of the largest of which is the Atlanta Sausage Company, of 914 Howell Mill road, N. W. This firm a few years ago built a large plant especially for the making of high-quality sausage, and equipped the plant with all the latest and most approved machines to make sausage.

Frank Reinhold, general manager, leaves nothing to chance in furnishing the Georgia housewife with fresh, clean sausage. He begins first by selecting choicest meats and after the sausage is made it goes into a large

His outside salesmen do not overload any retail store or customer beyond one day's needs, and should unexpected business require more than was at first ordered a second or third delivery will be made.

In addition to local deliveries, the company has salesmen that call on the merchants and stands upon sev-

The trade mark on this sausage is "Superior" and it is always made of the best materials, and the housewife can always rest assured that the quality is the same all the year around.

This firm makes all of its own goods in clean, approved packages, and in order to give some idea of the amount of its business it orders 10-pound boxes in lots of 50,000. The organization is composed of men and white women who have been with it for many years and take much pride in their work.

HOOVER REPLAYS EARLIER ROLES

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—President Hoover was not a new hand at his recent job of working with railroad, financial, industrial and agricultural leaders at Washington to form plans for meeting a bad situation. In November of 1921 Mr. Hoover, as secretary of commerce and chairman of the unemployment conference which came into existence because of conditions created by the post-war deflation in general trade and the stock market, had this to say:

"I know of nothing that more filled the mind of the recent conference, while dealing mainly with emergency matters than the necessity to develop further remedy, first, for the vast calamities of unemployment in the cycle of depression, and second, some assurance to the individual of reasonable security to remove the fear of total family disaster in the loss of the job."

During those trying days of post-war deflation the newly appointed secretary of commerce said: "It is entirely possible for us to maintain our high standard of living if we can secure equitable readjustments all along the line. But we must face the fact that if we are to hold our high standard of living and maintain employment of our people, we must do it with greater efficiency and by harder work."

Hoover's attitude in '23. Before the end of 1921 our situation and outlook began to improve. Then, with continued thawing of frozen loans and continued easier money, largely through continued gold imports, general trade was definitely on the upgrade and foreign bankers with their longer experience began to predict that we were again headed for inflation. Speaking at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States held in New York in May of 1923 Secretary of Commerce Hoover had this to say:

"We have no need to go into a period of inflation. We are undoubtedly in a plane of prosperity and we wish to hang on to prosperity. I am not one of those who believe that hard times have any special advantage in disciplining our people. We ought to be able to discipline ourselves in prosperity when we have time to do it, and having achieved prosperity we ought to be able to hold on to it."

We certainly did hold on to it. From 1921 on we had such a very fine, unprecedented prosperity that financial and industrial leaders from all parts of the world came here to see that it was not a very few weeks ago there did not appear to be a cloud in our sky. Suddenly, we began to slip and then slide. Before bottom was reached we had made another record; this time for speed and ground covered in the decline.

It was one thing for Hoover to say that we should be able to discipline ourselves in prosperity, while we had the chance, and something else to do it. Talking at the 1921 unemployment conference, he pointed out as quoted above, that it was possible for us to maintain our high standard of living "if we can secure equitable readjustment all along the line. But we must face the fact that if we are to hold our high standard of living and maintain employment of our people, we must do it with greater efficiency and by harder work."

What recently happened in the stock market is sufficient evidence that the working rules laid down by Hoover do not agree with some of the things Henry Ford said on leaving the recent Washington conference of industrial and financial leaders. Wall Street, however, is agreed that Ford put his finger on the two sore spots when he said that part of the existing situation was created by withdrawal of brains from business to the stock market and by production of goods beyond the purchasing power of the public.

The first step taken at the recent Washington conference was to have industrial leaders not to cut wages. From the start of these conferences it was realized that our standard of living of recent years was based on our industrial power and that this power, in turn, was dependent on mass buying power. Hence, the big job was to save the buying power of the masses. This was first, by agreeing not to cut wages and next, by doing everything possible to stimulate general trade.

President Hoover had a good job of his recent Washington conferences, more or less repeating steps taken at the 1921 conference following post-war deflation in general trade and in the stock market. Conservative Wall Street bankers are confident that the outlook is now brighter than in 1921 because we still have great natural resources and accumulated wealth and we now have the opportunity to profit by our mistakes of recent years. If one thing has been proved conclusively in our experience of recent years, it is that there was nothing in the widespread talk of our living in a "new era" of economics; that we could make it pay to devote more attention to speculation in the stock market than to developing efficiency; that we could go ahead increasing production dependent in part on buying power created by motoring future earnings and, in part, on profits of stock speculation.

Conservative Wall Street bankers are anything but doctored on the general situation and outlook. They take the same view as expressed this week by one of the leading bankers in the northwest. He said that the northwest was a firm foundation built at any time in his 42 years' experience because "the collapse in the stock market turned attention to other business channels, released much credit, and has enabled business to go ahead again normally."

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Business activity last week was under the restraining influence of a mid-week holiday, and the approach of the year-end inventory season.

Mobilization of the country's business leaders by President Hoover to stimulate business next year continued with the announcement of a two-billion-dollar program by public utility executives, and the assurance of co-operation from several state and municipal governments.

Meanwhile, steel output and demand registered a further slight decline, but this was attributed largely to the falling off in automotive demand, as manufacturers curtailed or suspended operations in preparation for the introduction of new models, and other buyers restricted their orders until they could more fully determine the effect of the recent stock market break. Few cancellations were reported. Railroad buying continues in large volume.

Retail trade received considerable stimulus from the colder weather, and the approach of the holiday season. This was particularly true of the women's wear, heavy clothing and shoe lines, sales of which had been retarded by the unseasonably warm weather of the past few weeks.

While a recession in some lines was regarded as inevitable as a result of the collapse in stock prices, there is a rather general feeling that the retrograde movement will be resources and accumulated wealth and we now have the opportunity to profit by our mistakes of recent years. If one thing has been proved conclusively in our experience of recent years, it is that there was nothing in the widespread talk of our living in a "new era" of economics; that we could make it pay to devote more attention to speculation in the stock market than to developing efficiency; that we could go ahead increasing production dependent in part on buying power created by motoring future earnings and, in part, on profits of stock speculation.

Colder Weather Stimulates Nation's Retail Business

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Business activity last week was under the restraining influence of a mid-week holiday, and the approach of the year-end inventory season.

Mobilization of the country's business leaders by President Hoover to stimulate business next year continued with the announcement of a two-billion-dollar program by public utility executives, and the assurance of co-operation from several state and municipal governments.

of any concerted "bull" operations in that group.

Aviation shares were under pressure, with several issues sinking to new low levels for the year. Recent serious airplane accidents, and the disappointing character of the current year's sales have had a dampening effect on speculation in that group.

Mining stocks ran into a storm of selling as a result of unconfirmed rumors of a cut in copper prices, but most of them made partial recovery from the week's lows when leading copper producers indicated that the 15-cent-a-pound price for the red metal would be maintained.

A brisk demand for the Swift & Co. issues was one of the few features in the industrial group. Trading was started in National Biscuit

(new) and Canadian Car & Foundry stocks.

Wall swings developed in some of the high priced specialties, notably Aluminum Co. of America, Quaker Oats, Tubize Artificial Silk and Zeece & Co., all of which lost ground.

Heavy buying of Chicago & North-west 4 3/4's and sharp declines in General Laundry 6 1/2's and Hy-Grade Food Co. feature in the trading in bonds. Associated Gas & Electric 4 1/2's of 1948 rose 10 points to 125.

When young Mr. Moore had entered the room of his youthful charge, as was his custom each evening at 10 o'clock, he was surprised to see the future Lord Greystock dressed for the street instead of for bed! Furthermore, the lad was about to depart by way of the window. But when he realized he was discovered, he turned back as though to relinquish his planned adventure; then suddenly lifted the astonished tutor high above his head.

UNITED STATES PUTS KELLOGG PACT TO ACID TEST BY APPEAL TO NATIONS TO END WAR IN ORIENT

Council Demands Names in School Liquor Probe

ITCHIE ASKED TO MAKE REPORT AT NEXT MEETING

Resolution Calls for All Information Relative to Use of Schools as Rum Transfer Points.

PROBE BY JURORS MAY START TODAY

Members of Fulton Body Expected to Summon Assistant Superintendent Before Them.

On the eve of a meeting of the Fulton county grand jury, at which investigation may be started of reports that public school grounds have been used for delivery or transfer of whisky, city council adopted a resolution calling on Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, to give council any information he has on the matter.

A resolution presented by Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward, was adopted by council without a dissenting vote. The paper requests Ritchie to communicate to the next meeting of council the name of any person or persons who have used city school grounds for delivery or transfer of whisky, and also to furnish, for action by council, any information in his possession concerning use of city property for illegal purposes.

Ritchie's statement.

This action by council followed Ritchie's statement last Friday before a special investigating committee of the board of education that Tech High school and Forest Avenue school grounds had been used for transferring whisky. It was learned that a member of the Fulton grand jury plans to insist that Ritchie be summoned to give full details regarding alleged use of the school grounds by liquor runners.

Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of the police committee, said that his committee would conduct a thorough investigation of any formal charges Ritchie may make laxly on the part of the police department.

Employees' Statement Upheld.

At the meeting last Friday, Ritchie confirmed the statement of discharged employees of the school department that school grounds had been used by liquor runners, but said that the school department had succeeded in stopping the practice. Ritchie declined to give the school committee further information on the ground that "it might be embarrassing" to certain people.

The resolution adopted by council follows:

"Be it resolved by the mayor and general council of the city of Atlanta that the assistant superintendent of schools, in charge of city schools, be requested to communicate to the next meeting of general council the name of any person or persons who have used the grounds of city schools for delivering or transferring liquor and to furnish, for action of council, any information in his possession concerning the use of any city property for illegal purposes."

Maximum for Day Not Expected to Exceed 35. Clear Weather To Prevail, Bureau Says.

Temporarily and partially rebuffed following his first assault of the season on the sunny south, Old Man Winter is due back in Atlanta today for at least a two-day stay. C. F. von Herrmann, director of the local weather bureau, predicts that early risers this morning will be greeted by a minimum temperature of 16 or 18 degrees and the maximum for the day is not expected to exceed 35 degrees.

Borne in on the wings of a brisk northwest breeze, the sub-freezing temperatures will remain very much in evidence here through Wednesday, Mr. von Herrmann thinks. In fact, if the elements run true to form, Wednesday's bottom figure will be below that of today. One ray of hope is seen in the forecast that generally clear skies will accompany the second pre-emptive drop of the season. Rain is expected to be noticeably absent for the next few days.

Rain Total Swelled.

Moderating temperatures here Monday, when the mercury ranged from an even 30 up to 37, found more rain added to the steadily mounting total for the year which has long since passed all previous records. The aggregate since January 1 reached 68.26 Monday morning to which was added a fraction of an inch during the day. This represents an excess of more than 22 inches above the normal figures and is an inch above the previous record for an entire year.

Not only Atlanta but practically all the southern states as well are expected to feel the effects of the latest wintry attack. Storm warnings have been ordered hoisted along the Gulf of Mexico from Port Arthur, Texas, to Carabelle, Fla., where a disturbance will be followed "by strong north winds, probably reaching gale force," according to bureau reports.

To Cover Big Area.

Freezing and sub-freezing weather is expected from the Ozarks of Arkansas to the Atlantic and from the Ohio river to the gulf. In addition, snow is predicted in parts of Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina and Virginia.

The combination of a steady rain which turned to sleet and a minimum temperature of 30 degrees made things very uncomfortable for pedestrians and vehicular traffic here early Monday morning as a thin coating of ice covered practically the entire city. Three minor injuries, resulting from falls on the treacherous footing, were treated at Grady hospital during the day. Street cars and automobiles likewise found the going very difficult. If the expected clearing off process is completed, these particular troubles will be no more.

Big Rainfall Excess.

Weather summary for the month of November just closed which was made public here Monday reveals the highest rainfall total for that period since 1921, 6.26 inches, which more than doubles the normal of 3.03. This excess is credited to bringing the year's total to 65.04 inches which is 4.7 of an inch above the former record for a 12 months period.

Temperature extremes were 75, registered November 1, and 14 registered November 30, neither of which broke any previous marks, although the minimum was only a fraction of a degree away. The sudden drop at the end of the month changed the monthly mean from a plus figure to minus 3 of a degree. The accumulated daily excess since January 1, however, is 122 degrees giving an average daily excess of 4 of a degree.

LABOR PROPOSES $160,000,000 Cut In Tax on Incomes Rushed to House

GROCERY HOLDUP SUSPECT JAILED

Prisoner Identified by Number of Victims; More Than $1,000 Loot in Burglaries Recovered.

Arrest of a suspect in the Saturday night robbery series, holdup of a grocery on Crew street, and recovery by detectives of more than $1,000 loot taken from downtown department stores Monday featured the police drive against the criminal element of Atlanta.

Suspected of being the Saturday night stickup man who preyed upon groceries to the extent of eight robberies within three weeks, H. B. Wilson, 29, of 1728 Melrose drive, was arrested by Detectives L. E. Ratledge and C. B. Scoggins Monday afternoon.

Late Monday afternoon T. A. Andrews, grocery store proprietor, and one of his clerks identified Wilson as the man who held them up last Saturday night. Later at night Monday a number of others who have been robbed recently were called in and they also identified Wilson.

B. C. Ferguson, manager of a store at 320 Sunset avenue, and two clerks, Jack Carlson and Guy Taylor, stated positively that Wilson was the man who robbed them on November 2 of $50. L. P. Blackmon, manager of a store at 292 Ashby street, says that Wilson robbed him the same night.

J. G. Guber, grocery proprietor at 1148 Boulevard drive; his son, Harold Guber, and Floyd Brown, a clerk, also identified Wilson as the bandit who held up and robbed their place some time back.

Recovery of merchandise valued at $1,000, stolen within the past two months from two downtown department stores, was announced Monday afternoon by Detectives G. G. Caldwell and A. E. Davis. With the announcement came the statement that indictments for burglary against three negroes, held for some time in connection with the robberies, would be sought at the session of the Fulton county grand jury.

The robbery of the Charles J. Williamson store at 170 South Pryor street on November 15 netted robbers merchandise valued at $2,000. All three were arrested shortly after the robbery of the Williamson store. Enough evidence has been secured to insure their indictment, the officers stated.

An unmasked bandit held up and robbed H. S. Garmon, of 527 Crew street, manager of grocery at 220 Marietta street, of $150, early Monday night, as he and a clerk, W. D. Etheridge, of 729 Hill street, prepared to leave the store for their homes. Detectives Roy Whitley and B. E. Blair are investigating.

George Smith, colored, of 217 Love street, was bound over to higher courts Monday under a $2,000 bond at the instance of A. Callaway, and he will have to answer to a grand jury upon a charge of robbery.

He was arrested Sunday night by patrolmen upon a report of Jacob Kaufman, Martin street grocer, who identified the negro as one of the three who robbed him during February 1927.

No developments were unearthed today by police in an investigation of a safe blowing affair which occurred over the week-end. The first was reported Monday morning and occurred some time during the week-end at the home of Harold Hirsch, 118 Waverly way.

Rings and valuable papers were found near the wall safe in an upstairs room of the home, but it is not known whether money was taken or not for the Hirsch family is in Europe for the winter. The second act of yegmen occurred at a store operated by A. Conkes at 172 Carroll street. Such a heavy charge of explosive was placed in the door that it was blown inward and nothing could be taken out.

Detectives Whitley, Cowan, Gillespie and Campbell investigated both cases.

STIMSON CALLS ON 53 SIGNATORIES TO STOP RUSSIANS

Mobilization of World Opinion To Halt Fighting Is Sought by Secretary of State.

GREATEST PEACE MOVE IN HISTORY

America Addresses Notes to Russia and China. Other Nations Follow With Admonitions.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A mobilization of world public opinion to halt hostilities in Manchuria between China and the soviet has been initiated by the United States.

In the most comprehensive move for peace that has ever been made in the history of American—and probably world diplomacy—Secretary Stimson has appealed to 53 nations signatories of the general pact for the renunciation of war to urge upon China and the soviet a cessation of hostilities.

Simultaneously, the United States has addressed to the Nanking and Moscow governments its second plea for peace since the troubles between the two countries began last summer when the Chinese took over control of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Throughout the world discussions were held today between American diplomatic representatives and foreign ministers, in conformity with the secretary's instructions that the view of the American government that war must be averted, should be laid before all foreign powers. In these discussions co-operation was asked in a world move for peace in the Far East.

The response to the steps for peace under the leadership of the United States was prompt, several nations immediately indicating their readiness to initiate anti-war moves similar to that of America.

The American message to Moscow was communicated through the French government, as was a similar communication addressed to the soviet by the United States in like terms on the situation July 13. The communication to China was handed to the Chinese ministry of foreign affairs by the American legation in Peking.

Secretary Stimson's move was predicated on the knowledge that open hostilities have taken place between two nations in Manchuria. A statement by the secretary accompanying the publication of the messages to Moscow and Nanking emphasized that no pacific means had been resorted to for settlement of the message to the two governments was couched in firm and precise terms, concluding with the admonition that the respect with which China and Russia will be held in world opinion would depend upon the

POPE AGAIN RAPS GAGGING OF PRIEST BY MUSSOLINI

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI has severely arraigned the Fascist press for its discussion of Catholic subjects and has complained that Catholic newspapers in Italy are finding it more and more difficult to discuss Catholic interests. His speech before the assembled parish priests of Rome yesterday was reported in tonight's Osservatore Romano, the organ used by the Vatican for its announcements.

The Pope was quoted as saying that it was becoming more and more difficult for even the most modest Catholic newspapers throughout Italy to write of the pope and to defend his prerogatives and rights under the Lateran treaties.

If the signature of the Lateran accords on February 11 was a splendid and joyful occasion "this one is not," the pontiff continued, "and we need many words to describe it because a good listener needs few words."

He described recent Fascist publications concerning the sphere of the church and state as reaching the heights of indiscretion and discourtesy, saying he had made "the most energetic remonstrances possible" concerning them.

EXPLORER SCOUTS CLAIMS OF BYRD TO POLE CONQUEST

LONDON, Dec. 2.—(Tuesday).—The Mail says that the accuracy of the report of Commander Richard E. Byrd of his south polar flight has been challenged by Major Trygve Gran, Norwegian aviator and explorer, who was a member of the Scott antarctic expedition.

A dispatch from Copenhagen cites a statement Major Gran made to the newspaper Ekstra Bladet in which he said, "I am not justified in saying Commander Byrd did not pass over the pole but the whole expedition appears to be a speculation in sensations."

He stated that the report of the American aviator did not inspire confidence and in particular doubted the statement that Byrd saw the cairns of Scott and Amundsen.

ORDINANCE TO BAR BEGGARS IS LOST

City council Monday afternoon declined to provide funds for an audit of City Warden William Johnson's books and at the same session refused to pass an ordinance barring beggars from the Atlanta streets.

Councilman W. R. Johnson, of the eleventh ward and chairman of the benevolence and pensions committee of city council, offered the paper asking that sufficient funds be provided by the finance committee to conduct an audit of the city warden's books, but on motion of Councilman William E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward, the request was killed. This action was tantamount to filing the request.

Councilman Nelson Spratt, of the tenth ward, submitted the proposal which was designed to bar beggars from the street by forcing them to get permits after careful investigation by city license inspectors, but on motion of Councilman Tom Smith, of the twelfth ward, seconded by Alderman Oscar H. Williamson, of the ninth, the paper was tabled.

Mrs. J. E. Andrews, president of the Atlanta Woman's Civic Council, had demanded an audit of the city warden's books and a detailed statement showing to whom assistance had been rendered. Council members took the position that the city warden does not handle any funds but merely sends requisitions to the city controller, who pays out the money directly on order of the warden, and that any money set up for the audit would be wasted.

Under the paper as offered to council affecting the beggars, the Atlanta Community Chest and other charitable organizations would co-operate with license inspectors in barring beggars from the streets.

The effort was aimed primarily, it was explained, at the imposters and not at those who have physical defects which would prevent them from earning an honest livelihood.

The tax committee of city council approved the proposed ordinance following a public hearing last week at which time Harry M. Atkinson, president of the Atlanta Community Chest, and Roy LeCraw, director of the drive for funds raised recently by the Chest, appeared and appealed for protection against a group of "persons who have imposed on the sympathies of Atlantans."

Negro at West Point Finds SAYS POSITION MISREPRESENTED IN RECENT PUBLICITY No Fault With Treatment

BY F. T. KETTER.
Associated Press Writer.
WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 2.—(P)—Alonso Parham, negro cadet appointed to the United States Military Academy from Chicago, in an interview today said that the treatment he has received since he entered the academy July 1 has been absolutely fair and impartial.

The permission granted the cadet to talk for publication broke a policy which had been in effect at the academy for more than a century. Parham objected to publicity recently given him and remarked that it was discouraging to see his position so badly misrepresented and to be singled out as an object for pity.

"Published reports that cadets never talk to me or that my relations with them are strained are absolutely false," Parham said. "I realize that orders cannot be issued governing friendships and that such a matter is purely personal. Statements to the effect that cadets have been ordered not to talk to me are false.

No Prejudice Shown.
"Since July 1, when I entered, my treatment at the hands of officers and cadets has been fair and never under any circumstances has there been any sign of discrimination or prejudice." Parham added that "all the officers are giving me a square deal."

"I have participated in every activity with other fourth classmen from the minute of my arrival and in addition to the military drills have participated in intramural sports, playing baseball, basketball, football and several others. At the football trips to Boston, New Haven and New York city, I marched with my company and sat in the stands exactly as the other cadets." Mathematics has given Parham considerable trouble and he admitted that during the first week's instruction in September he has been deficient. "During the first week," he said, "I asked for and received extra instruction on two occasions at conferences with the officer instructors. When in company with a number of other fourth classmen I was posted as being deficient and we all were ordered to attend conferences four times a week from 5:10 p. m. to 6:10 p. m. Three other cadets were in my section. This time is ordinarily free."

When asked if he had received cadet coaching at night, Parham replied that he never had requested it. In all other academic and military subjects he said that he was proficient and that his mathematics course was the only one giving him trouble. Major General William R. Smith, superintendent, also deplored the publicity Parham had received and said it was having a most harmful effect. "This young man is absolutely on his own," the general said, "exactly as every other cadet and to single him out merely because of his color is un-American."

Deficient in Mathematics.
"Parham's academic standing in mathematics has been commented on in the press," General Smith continued. "While he is deficient in that subject, at present there were 18 other cadets with lower marks than his and at the present time there are 10 below him. In Parham's class at present a total of 42 cadets have a deficient in mathematics, while in the third class there are 61 cadets below our required standards."

"I predict that any one of these cadets will be discarded this December; it is impossible, as invariably a large number of the officers' cadets make passing marks. Last year 140 cadets were examined and only 70 failed to pass and were honorably discharged. Parham's daily marks show that he is failing to pass only by a few tenths."

General Smith was asked if Parham was isolated from the other cadets in any way outside of rooming alone.

"He is not," was the emphatic reply. "If you could spend a few days here you would see him marching all formations, participating in every activity and in every way treated like other cadets."

TROLLEY HOLDUP SUSPECT JAILED BY DETECTIVES

Detectives Monday night believed they had in custody the negro responsible for the holdup of Street Car Motorman P. F. Jones, the night of November 26, at the end of the Magnolia car line, when the street car was stopped at the house of Lee Jones, of 544 Stovall street. The negro was taken in custody by Motorcyclist Officers F. O. Bishop and P. J. Smith. Jones was robbed of his pistol and about $10. He boarded the car after he had changed his trolley at the end of the line.

WHITE WAY LIGHT UNIFORMITY VOTED BY CITY COUNCIL

Whiteway lights on Broad street from Marietta to Mitchell street will be made uniform with those on Whitehall and other main Atlanta thoroughfares if Mayor I. N. Ragsdale approves action of city council and the aldermanic board. The paper was presented to city council Monday by the electric lights committee and was passed without a dissenting vote. Merchants in the vicinity petitioned council several days ago to make the change along the prominent shopping district. Investigation showed the cost would be almost negligible and a favorable recommendation was filed by the committee directing the department.

TWO CONGRESSMEN INJURED IN FALLS ON ICY PAVEMENTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(United News)—Two members of the House, Sam B. Hill, democrat, Washington, and William E. Hull, republican, Illinois, received severe injuries in falls on the icy pavement on the way to the capitol for the opening session of congress today.

Hill was leaving his home for the capitol when he fell to the sidewalk, the stem of his pipe jamming the roof of his mouth and puncturing an artery. He was taken to a hospital for treatment where he will remain overnight. He was reported to be "much better" by Mrs. Hill tonight. Hull was boarding a street car when he slipped and fell, wrenching his back. He was given treatment by the naval physician acting as house doctor.

COMMITTEE TO HEAR OF LOBBYING BY DRYS

Tinkham Wins Permission To Tell of Church Group's Activities.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(P)—Representative Tinkham, Massachusetts, had the way opened today for him to testify before the senate lobby committee about activities of the board of temperance of the Methodist Episcopal church and the Federal Council of churches, which he has attacked.

Answering the republican foe of the prohibition law, Chairman Caraway, of the committee, assured him of an opportunity to be heard later. Meantime, Senator Caraway said the committee would conclude the inquiry into activities on the tariff and begin the investigation of those interested in the Muscle Shoals legislation.

"I shall be glad to appear before the committee at its earliest convenience," Representative Tinkham said. "I have some important information to present." Tinkham requested the committee to "unmask the indefensible political activities of the two organizations."

"When the committee has finished its investigation of the activities of those who seek to put money in their pockets by influencing legislation," Caraway replied, "we will be glad, if the other members of the committee agree with me, in giving you a hearing to point out the abuses into which you wish us to inquire."

Relieve Your Cold Through Elimination

The medical profession has not yet isolated or classified the cold germ, but we have learned that quickest relief is always had when the system is first thoroughly cleansed of its poisonous waste matter, which you can accomplish in from 60 to 90 minutes with a preparation known as "Alertox."

Alertox, a new chemical discovery, through a process of elimination, thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities, reducing the excess flow of secretions and, at the same time, decreases acidity. Bad cold germs do not propagate unless the system is too acid.

Alertox will remove, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, and may be had at any drug store in 60c and $1 bottles. Use it as a first aid for colds.—(adv.)

Better Than Whiskey For Bad Colds

The benediction of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute cold reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories, tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold remedy they have ever tried.

To get rid of that cold, step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk 60c for a bottle of Aspirin, the liquid cold remedy, and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in ten minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away.

Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite and expect you to try it. Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children. Aspirin is by far the safest, most effective, easiest to take and the most agreeable cold remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night. Druggists carry and guarantee Aspirin, the largest selling liquid cold remedy in the world. (adv.)

ROAD BOARD REVENUE IS PUT AT $16,000,000

Most Liberal Estimate Would Not Exceed $18,600,000, Colonel Tate Says.

Official estimates placing the 1930 highway department income at between $16,000,000 and $18,600,000 were revealed Monday by Colonel Sam Tate, head of the department.

"The most liberal estimates we have had," Colonel Tate said, "indicate a total of $18,600,000. This includes an expectation of $10,000,000 for the gasoline tax, $4,800,000 from motor license tags, and $4,000,000 from federal aid."

I consider all the items extremely liberal approximations and do not think the total will go beyond $17,000,000. It is more likely that it will be between $16,000,000 and $17,000,000."

Colonel Tate's estimates are below those of other officials at the capitol, who believe that approximately $20,000,000 will come to the highway department next year. An increase of $500,000 or more in the receipts from the sale of automobile license tags is confidently expected, which, with $10,000,000 anticipated from the gasoline tax and $4,000,000 of federal aid money would bring the total to well above $19,000,000.

The gross income of the department, it is pointed out, will be proportionately greater during the next 13 months. Two millions of dollars will be borrowed on anticipated gas tax revenue in December, and the November gas tax revenues to the department, which will be paid in December, also will bring an estimated $750,000.

Under the plan of the governor and the highway board the $2,000,000 borrowed will be repaid in 12 equal monthly installments beginning January 28 and continuing until December 28, 1930.

In addition to the retirement of the $2,000,000 loan the department will pay $1,500,000 from the 1930 revenues in settlement of obligations for contracts now in the course of performance.

FARM PRODUCT KINGS CROWNED AT CHICAGO

Men From Many States and Other Nations Win Awards.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Blue bloods for the blue book of agriculture, hailing from all sections of the nation and Canada, were in the making today as the experts set about the task of picking the champions at the International Live Stock Exposition and Hay and Grain Show.

By the time the dust had settled on the International amphitheater, victory ribbons were on their way back to a dozen states, several Canadian provinces and one was headed for New South Wales, Australia, the home of J. W. Eade, who won first place in the white spring wheat section with the heaviest sample ever shown here. It weighed 67.6 pounds to the bushel.

A Canadian wheat grower, J. B. Smith, of Wolf Creek, Alberta, showed the best sample of hard red spring wheat. The new hay king is M. V. Gillette, of Lexington, Neb., who exhibited the best bale of hay. It was alfalfa.

Awards in the live stock competition were widely scattered, with blue ribbons going as far as California and Massachusetts.

The grand champion Aberdeen-Angus bull of the show was exhibited by Harrison & Ryan, of Harlan, Iowa, who also received the award for the junior champion.

The first championship in the horse department was won by Truman's Pioneer stud farm of Bushnell, Ill., whose Laddie the Second, was named the champion sire. Henry McCracken & Sons, of Gowrie, Iowa, won the reserve championship in this event.

In the cheviot sheep section the University of Kentucky exhibited the champion wether with the University of Wisconsin winning the reserve ribbon.

Michigan State college won the purple ribbon for the champion wether in the Rambouillet section, Iowa State annexing the reserve award.

The purple ribbon for the champion South Down wether in the sheep department was won by Purdue University, Mountain Farms, of Bradstreet, Mass., winning the reserve ribbon.

The Sir Thomas Lipton trophies awarded annually to the 4-H club boy and girl showing the best record of club activities were presented to Helen M. Haldiman, of Monroe, Wis., and John C. Patrick, of White Oak, S. C. Helen is 17 and has spent five years in club work. She formerly was her county health champion, state canning champion and a leader in club work. Young Patrick is 19, a freshman at Clemson college. His activities include the raising of pigs, calves, sheep, corn and cotton. He has earned $5,793 in club work, paying for his way to college.

$25,000 Pledged For Illiteracy Work in Georgia

Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools, announced Monday that $25,000 had been pledged in the campaign to combat adult illiteracy in Georgia and that he confidently expected the state would raise $100,000.

Dr. Duggan conferred Monday with Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, director of the National Association to Combat Illiteracy, who appeared before him as a representative of the Julius Rosenwald Foundation, which has pledged itself, to the extent of $50,000, to match with $1 every $2 raised in Georgia for adult illiteracy work.

Dr. Duggan indicated following the conference that steps would be taken to stimulate the campaign, and that the workers might be sent out to interest the people of the various sections.

The state department of education, he said, is handicapped in its adult illiteracy work by not having a state appropriation to finance a campaign, and by rigid statutory limitations on the department which do not allow employment of supervisors of agents for the work.

CASSIDY TO HEAD MACOUSTIC FIRM OFFICE IN ATLANTA

Selection of Atlanta as southern headquarters of the Macoustic Engineering Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and appointment of James A. Cassidy, district manager with offices in the Rhodes-Haverty building, was announced Monday. Formerly president of the Keeling-Cassidy Brick Company, Mr. Cassidy enjoys a wide acquaintance among southern architects and builders. He is a member of the Capital City Club and secretary and a director of the Atlanta Kiwanis Club.

The Macoustic Company manufactures their product in plants in Cleveland and Montreal. It is an original sound-absorbing plaster, tending to decrease the reverberation in large interiors. The company maintains a staff of trained acoustical engineers.

Some of the important buildings erected in Atlanta which used this product in their construction are the Fox theater, city hall, First Baptist church at Peachtree and Fifth streets, and the new Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company's building now under construction.

GEORGE GARNER, NEGRO TENOR, SINGS HERE DECEMBER 13

George Garner, noted negro tenor, will make his first Atlanta appearance on the night of December 13, at Spelman college, it was announced Monday by R. B. Eleazer.

Garner is one of the two negro tenors who have achieved international recognition. Ronald Hayes, being the other. Garner has an enviable record. In 1924 he was soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, and in 1926 he went abroad, where he was well received. In 1928 Lady Astor sponsored a concert for him which took England by storm. His success in Europe has not as yet been paralleled in America, but since his return, critics have been unusually lavish in their praise, and predict for him a great career in his native land.

PRINCETON ALUMNI SECRETARY SPEAKS AT MEETING TODAY

THIRTEEN EXECUTED Basmach Tribe Members Are Shot for Raiding Village.

SAMARKAND, Russian Turkestan, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Thirteen members of the Basmach tribe were executed by shooting today as bandits and murderers. It was alleged that they raided the village of Kassan, killing the secretary of the local communist organization, the chairman of a co-operative society, and a girl who had removed her veil. Of the 13 defendants, 11 were rich peasants or merchants.

PATTERSON TO SPEAK

GOT HER OUT OF BED; HAS GAINED FIFTEEN POUNDS

"Everywhere I Go
Friends Marvel at My Improvement Since Taking Sargon," Says Mrs.
Barry.

"Three months ago I was flat on my back in bed, but today after taking six bottles of Sargon, I feel as well and strong as I ever did in my life."

"I had not been well for thirteen years. I had a pain in my right side that went through to my back and up around my shoulder. It would be so severe at times that I couldn't bend over, and I'd just have to go to bed until it wore off. I could eat nothing sweet and even simple food fermented in my stomach. I suffered habitually with splitting headaches. Many a time at my bridge club I would become so weak and dizzy I'd have to quit the game. I was constipated nearly all the time, and took laxatives and purgatives regularly, but what little temporary relief they gave me was offset because they nauseated me so much.

"Finally I became so weak and nervous I took to my bed. A friend who called to see me suggested that I try Sargon. I am thankful to say I followed her advice. I have taken six bottles and my health is restored completely. My weight had gone down to 103 pounds, but now I weigh 118, a gain of 15 pounds! I eat anything I want, my digestion is perfect, and my complexion has cleared up wonderfully. Sargon Soft Mass Pills are simply marvelous. They overcame my constipation without upsetting my stomach as all other laxatives did."

"At every social gathering my friends marvel at my improvement in health and appearance. I have abundant energy, I never seem to tire, and I sleep better than I have since I was a child. Instead of dropping out in the midst of a bridge game, as I used to so often, I can play for hours. I just cannot say enough for this wonderful treatment."

This remarkable statement was recently made by Mrs. Elizabeth Barry, of Headburg, Calif.

Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Pharmacy Stores.—(adv.)

Elders Promise Co-operation in Return for Help Ministers Have Sought From Young People.

The youth movement in Atlanta was inaugurated Monday night at the Wesley Memorial church at a large gathering of young people and their elders. Plans for the follow-up of the mass meeting have not been fully determined, but it is understood that several more general gatherings are contemplated in addition to work which will be done through group organizations.

While A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, conducted an open forum discussion of the movement at Monday night's session. A number of the young people present voiced their views regarding the movement, and a general spirit of enthusiasm was manifested.

One result of the mass meeting was that the elders promised to youth their co-operation in return for the co-operation the ministers and other workers have been trying to secure from the young people.

Faith in Youth. Dr. Sutton expressed his faith in youth, and declared that youth has needed faith by achievement, by lack of prejudice and by its daring. "At the age of the world have more people believed in youth," Dr. Sutton said, "than believe in youth because it is withstanding a civilization it did not build and which was superimposed on it." The benevolent autocracies of home, school and church are rapidly being made democratic out of the new youth movement, Dr. Sutton said, declaring that when youth asks a civil question it should be answered with a reasonable answer which will increase respect. Up to 25 years ago, the school was the most autocratic institution in America, children being repressed until it is a marvel that so few of them went off into iniquity and sin when they left school and the lid was lifted, he said. "Because youth is not given activity in church, it seeks activity elsewhere," Dr. Sutton said.

Desire to Serve. Dr. Sutton told of a man who gave up a big job training chorus girls in New York and drawing a huge salary to become an Atlanta school-teacher, because at a camp in North Georgia he obtained a taste of what it means to serve and do something for humanity. Dr. Sutton urged that youth be given Christian service to do as an outlet for its energy, and that youth's activities be given careful direction.

Dean Raimundo de Ories, of St. Philip's Cathedral, backed up Dr. Sutton's statements, and urged youth to try for better things. "Just because we live in a banyard is no sign that we belong there," Dean de Ories said.

John D. Hoffman, musical director of the First Baptist church, led the singing. Dr. E. M. Potent, president of the Evangelical Ministers' Association, opened the meeting. The committee in charge of the arrangements included Dr. L. O. Bricker, Dr. W. H. Faust, Dr. L. W. Collins, G. B. Hinman and James Morton.

SEVERAL CHANGES VOTED IN TRAFFIC LAWS OF ATLANTA

Several changes in Atlanta's traffic ordinances were voted Monday by city council.

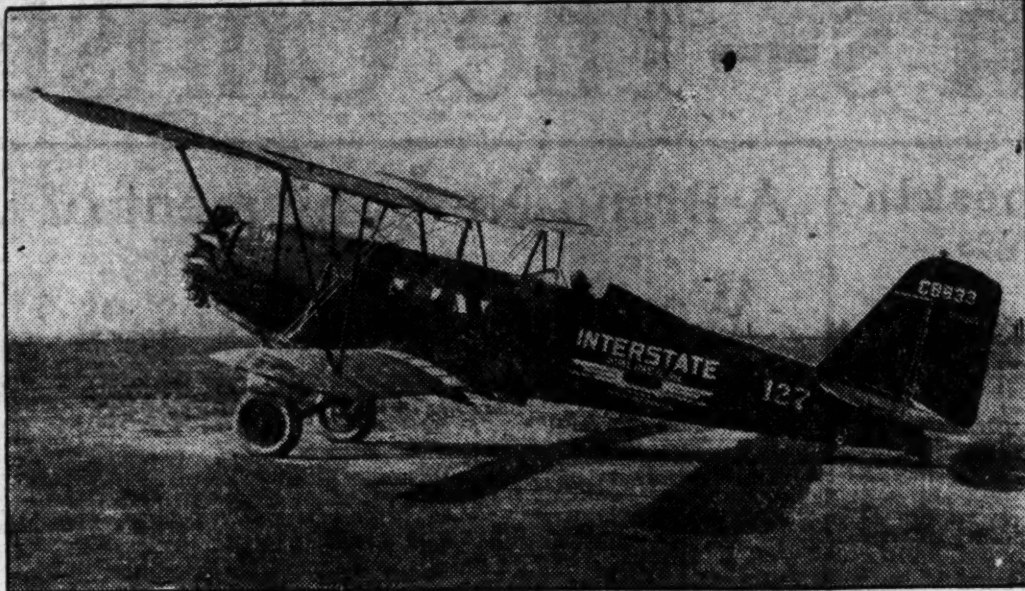

Colquitt avenue 200 feet westward from the intersection of Euclid was made non-parking between 7 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock at night. Despite failure of an effort to override the veto of Acting Mayor J. Allen Couch of an ordinance making the east side of Courtland street between Edgewood and Auburn avenues non-parking from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night, proponents of the paper succeeded in passing the same paper again.

Boulevard stop signs were ordered placed at Park avenue and Fair, Cherokee and Fair, Cameron and Fair and Sydney and Park streets by action of council.

City Attorney James L. Mayson advised city council to continue use of the present synchronized traffic control system and to disregard warnings that the city is violating patent rights of other companies.

He ruled that the city would be protected in any damage action by the firms from which the lamps were originally purchased.

Interstate Buys New Mail Planes

They have a top speed of 145 miles an hour and cruising speed of 125 miles an hour. Open cockpit Stearman biplanes, powered by 225-horsepower Wright Whirlwinds, formerly were used by the operators of the line.

OFFICERS PREVENT DELIVERY AT JAIL

A possible jail delivery at police headquarters was prevented Monday night when Turnkeys J. H. Norris and Thomas Jeffries found a number of bricks which had been removed beneath a barred window in the negro tier of cells, in ward one.

Told by one of the prisoners that Preston Sargent, held in connection with an automobile theft, was attempting to dig out of his cell, the turnkeys sought to catch Sargent in the act, but he got wise to their espionage. After an investigation revealed several bricks which Sargent is said to have succeeded in digging from underneath his cell window, he was placed in solitary confinement and at the order of Captain A. J. Holcombe, under heavy guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa G. Candler, in their new Lockheed Wasp Vega, of which Reeler Blevins is the pilot, returned to Candler field Sunday after a "christening" trip to Nashville and Evansville, Ind., which was a sort of baptism of snow and ice. The party left Atlanta the day before Thanksgiving, which day was spent with the Candler's two daughters, students at Ward-Belmont college, Nashville. Then the entire party, including the two young women, enplaned, and the journey was continued to Evansville. Blevins stated Monday that the Indiana airport was several inches deep in snow and that zero weather prevailed throughout their visit. He added that the Lockheed—which is a seven-place cabin monoplane with a cruising speed of around 142 miles an hour—performed beautifully and that the Candler's are delighted with their most recent aeronautic acquisition.

In the face of a head wind, the trip to Candler field from "Sky Harbor," at Murfreesboro, Tenn., was completed in one hour and 50 minutes, no mean accomplishment.

The airplane has become an "accessory before the fact" in football! Russell P. Reeder, assistant head coach of the United States Military academy, at West Point, has completed three round trips from West Point to California to "scout" the Leland Stanford team, according to Henry W. Conner, eastern traffic manager of Transcontinental Air Transport-Maddux Air Lines. Army and Stanford are scheduled to play an inter-sectional game at Palo Alto, Cal., on December 26.

Miami is planning elaborate ceremonies on December 9 to attend the arrival there of the first direct air mail shipment between Montevideo, Uruguay, and the United States, with local and state officials participating with Pan-American Airways, Inc. The first shipment of mail left Montevideo on November 20, and is due to reach New York December 10. ATLANTA FINANCE BOARD WILL PASS ON LIBRARY PLEA

Request of the Civitan Club for additional facilities for Carnegie library Monday was referred to the finance committee of city council by that body, and a petition from the hospitals and charities committee for $3,000 for a fireproof X-ray film storage room at Grady hospital was not filed because it had not been considered by the finance committee.

The library paper came to city council with the signature of Horace Russell, former member of city council and chairman of the civic clubs affairs committee of the Civitans. It was offered in the club meeting by John M. Miller.

Alderman G. Everitt Millican, chairman of the finance and charities group, declared he will ask the finance committee to act on the Grady improvement in time for allocation of the money by the next session of council, December 16.

ALDERMEN APPROVE BIDS ON FURNITURE FOR NEW CITY HALL

Atlanta's aldermanic board Monday afternoon approved a proposal of low bidders on sectional divisions of equipment and furnishings for the new $1,000,000 city hall and sent the measure to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale for his action. All other matters passed by city council also were sanctioned by the board.

At the last meeting of city council, the proposal was made by the low bidders, Newton-Holt Company, Foote & Davies and the Brown Decorating Company, that they would begin manufacture of the products immediately and have them ready for installation as soon as the city is ready. Council approved the paper and it went to the aldermanic board, where it was sanctioned but was held up on motion of Alderman Ed A. Gilliam to reconsider.

When it came to a vote Monday the board approved it a second time by a vote of six for and four against. Those voting for its passage were Aldermen Pennington, Ashley, Couch, Gann, Dobbs and Williamson.

Those casting their ballots against the paper were Aldermen Moon, Huie, Millican and Gilliam. Alderman Millican, of the tenth ward, declared that failure of the city to take advantage of the unit costs of various articles which must be bought will cost the city about $14,000 more than the unit prices would.

He declared that substitutions of products are contemplated in the recommendations as made and which council had approved and asked that specifications be adhered to strictly.

Compromise Agreement On Plumbing Extras Accepted by Council

City council Monday afternoon approved a compromise agreement with the W. C. Burns Plumbing Company for installation made in several schools under the 1926 bond issue.

The aldermanic board approved the paper and it will go to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale today for his sanction.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Restoration of natural cover for game by legislation and other means was urged today by Aldo Leopold, Detroit expert, at the annual American game conference.

Several hundred delegates from many states were present at the conference. They included game commissioners, sportsmen, conservationists and scientists.

At tonight's session Peter S. Twitty, game and fish commissioner of Georgia, told how 100,000 school children of his state were enrolled as "nature guardians," pledging themselves to observe the game laws. He said the most effective way to spread conservation education was among the children.

A GLORIFIED CLEAR SKIN

A CLEAR, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness! Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

Healthy skin is clear, smooth and lovely. It is Nature's outward reflection of internal healthfulness.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Rich, red, healthy blood nourishes the body and aids in protecting it against infection and disease.

Skin troubles and sallow complexion are usually but symptoms of a deeper, a more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red-cells in the blood.

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of these outside blemishes you are building up the system to ward off the graver diseases of which these blemishes are Nature's warning.

S.S.S.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite should improve. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should sleep soundly. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. It promotes healthy body building. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the great blood tonic which is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

You are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you will want to possess body power clear up your skin.

S.S.S. will help Nature give you this power. Internal healthfulness will then reflect in your skin a natural whiteness—a skin glorified.

Millions of people have taken advantage of the wonder-medical properties in S.S.S. It gives to Nature all it needs to build you up so that your system may bow off the cause.

Clear Skin Comes From Within

675 New Bills Introduced In House on Opening Day; Rate Over Ten Per Minute

Measures Range From Repeal of Eighteenth Amendment and Chi- nese-Russ Peace to Is- land Autonomy.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(P)—Representatives dropped bills into the house hopper today with a rapidity rivaling the sleet beating upon the huge skylight above the chamber. In contrast, not a single measure was introduced during the nine-minute session of the senate. Those having bills there were forced to withhold them for lack of opportunity to get them in. More than 10 measures a minute were introduced in the house, the total being 675. This brought the total for the 71st congress there to more than 6,100.

Representatives sought additions to or changes in laws touching on international, national and sectional topics, inquiry into the Chinese-soviet problems, registration of lobbyists, highways improvement, prohibition, disposal of the Muscle Shoals project and setting up a permanent radio commission.

Highway Funds Increase. Representative Tinkham, republican of Massachusetts, proposed to require lobbyists to register with the clerk of the house or the secretary of the senate before they could appear before congressional committees or otherwise work in the interests of any legislation.

President Hoover would be requested to inquire into the possibility of peacefully adjusting the differences between China and the soviet, under a resolution by Representative Morton D. Hull, Illinois.

Chairman Dowell, of the roads committee, proposed an increase of $50,000,000 annually for federal highway aid, making a total outlay of $125,000,000 a year.

Representative Robinson, republican of Kentucky, introduced a similar measure.

Dry Law Repeal. Representative Igoe, democrat, Illinois, introduced the only bill which would provide for repeal of the 18th amendment. Modification of the prohibition law was asked by Representative Doyle, democrat, Illinois, who proposed that states wishing to legalize wine and beer would be allowed to do so by referendum. He titled the measure, "To prevent open conflict between state and federal officers and to allay the present unrest of labor."

Another bill dealing with prohibition was offered by Representative Lanford, democrat, Georgia, to authorize payment of pensions to dependents of any federal law enforcement officer killed in discharge of his duties.

Freedom in Religion. A bill by Representative Lindsay, democrat, New York, which he termed an "anti-intolerance act," would provide for heavy penalties for efforts to force, intimidate or threaten to infringe on the rights of any religion or religious belief.

Representative Dickstein, democrat, New York, proposed a bill to amend the immigration act to provide that an immigrant who was admitted to entry could also bring with him his wife and dependent children.

A measure by Representative Steagall, democrat, Alabama, would authorize an appropriation of $10,000,000 for seed loans to farmers in southeastern states.

Authority for the expenditure of $1,600,000 for reconstruction of roads and bridges in Alabama damaged by floods was asked in a bill by Representative Hill, democrat, of that state.

Other measures proposed independence of the Philippines, construction of public buildings in various cities, dredging of rivers and harbors, and construction of bridges.

TWO BANKERS GO TO U.S. PRISON FOR SHORTAGES

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 2.—(P)—Allen Merrill Brown, former president of the East Alabama National Bank at Eufaula, tonight faced a term of three years in Atlanta federal penitentiary following his plea of guilty in United States district court here today to embezzling $138,000 from the institution. The former banker, well past middle age, was sentenced by Judge Edwin R. Holmes after Robert Steiner, Montgomery attorney, had pleaded for leniency on the grounds that Brown was actuated more by a desire to assist financially embarrassed friends than by criminal intent.

R. E. Wood, former teller of the Andalusia National Bank, was sentenced to 18 months in the federal reformatory at Chillicothe, Ohio, following his plea of guilty to embezzling $8,900 from that institution. He appeared without counsel but the Rev. Emmett P. Smith, state prison chaplain, sponsored his case and asked for leniency.

Letters from several ministers identifying Brown as a good churchman were read.

OPENING OF RHODES HOME POSTPONED UNTIL JANUARY

The opening of the Rhodes Memorial Home, which had been planned for early December, has been postponed until an indefinite date after the Christmas season, it was announced Monday by Miss Ruth Blair, director of the state department of archives and history.

The postponement was due to the illness of Miss Blair and Mrs. L. O. Bricker, co-donor of the home with J. R. Rhodes.

Several weeks ago it was announced that, although the home would be opened in December, the department of archives and history would not move into it until a later date. No state appropriation was available for the care of the building, it was said.

NASHVILLE MAYOR CHARGES "POLITICS" IN OUSTER ACTION

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 2.—(P)—In reply to an ouster suit recently filed against him by Richard M. Atkinson, district attorney general, Mayor Hilary E. Howes today filed in chancery court a lengthy answer in which he alleged a "political motive" prompted Atkinson, "or those advising and inspiring him" in bringing the action.

Atkinson's petition charged the mayor with misuse of city funds, and declared that, as a result, the city was on the verge of bankruptcy. Mayor Howes, in his reply, denied all charges.

HOWLAND GARDNER MAKES ADDRESS TO TRAFFIC CLUB

J. Howland Gardner, president of the New England Steamship Company, was principal speaker at a luncheon of the Traffic Club, held at noon Monday at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Mr. Gardner spoke feelingly of the regard held for Georgia and Atlanta by James J. Felly, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railway, associated with the steamship company. Mr. Felly formerly was president of the Central of Georgia and is well known throughout the south.

The interdependence of transportation systems on each other, particularly in the southeast, where such great industrial strides have been noted in the past 10 years, was emphasized by Mr. Gardner.

Colonel Sam Wells, head of the highway department, for which the money will be borrowed, said Monday that a number of applications to participate in the loan had been received from northern and eastern banking firms.

The $2,000,000 loan will be repaid in equal installments, each bearing its own interest, on the twenty-eighth day of each month of 1930.

Goodyear Zeppelin To Try for Record On Florida Flight

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 2.—(P)—The Defender, Goodyear Zeppelin Company semi-rigid airship, will leave Akron, Ohio, at noon tomorrow for Miami in an attempt to establish a non-stop record for craft of its classification. Information as to the flight was received here tonight by Welton A. Snow.

The airship is expected to reach here tomorrow night.

Officials of the company, in a telegram to City Manager Snow, said the weather looked favorable today for the flight, and that the Defender would carry 400 gallons of gasoline, more than one ton. No official records now exist for semi-rigid ships, the telegram said, and the Defender will carry a barograph sealed by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale in order that the distance record may be official.

THE COMEDY OF CONGRESS.

The country is now to have a somewhat indefinite season of congressional debates and legislation of more or less value to the public welfare. The revenues for the government must be supplied, of course, and the supply bills for its functions provided. Those are regular and essential items of business, under the constitution. Little beyond them are measures of necessity except in rare emergencies.

But when 531 American politicians assemble in a body and each of them feels that the weight of the nation's life and progress is imposed upon his personal wisdom and activity, it is plain that the people must suffer a vast lot of flubdub and folly. The saving grace of these annual congressional rosters is that so much of it is floor foot and mouth work and that so little of it gets further than the pages of the Congressional Record.

There are many things that could be enacted with profit to the people. The costs of government could be very largely reduced by confining the functions of the federal administration within its true constitutional limits. There are species of annoying nuisance taxes that could be safely abolished. There is a vast official personnel that could be contracted into cheaper and larger efficiency. More individualism, more state responsibilities, could be substituted for increasing federal centralism.

None of these things are likely to be enacted, however, for they would take away much of the political prerogatives and electioneering power of the parties and their politicians. Hence the people must grin and bear, without raving and cursing, what they get out of the congresses they elect with so slight regard for their own vital interests.

AN OATH-OBEDIENT JUDGE.

The press generally is praising the conduct of Federal Judge Sawtelle at Tucson, in Arizona, on a recent day. An ex-chancellor of the University of Arizona and one of the judge's intimate friends for 20 years, a doctor by profession, was convicted in the federal court of illegally issuing narcotic prescriptions. He had made a business of that practice.

With tears flowing from his eyes and deep emotion in his voice Judge Sawtelle sentenced his friend to 15 months in the penitentiary and a $500 fine. He denied a pathetic petition for probation because of the multiplied flagrant of the doctor's offenses against a law to protect those whom he was aiding in their addiction to narcotics.

In the conduct of Judge Sawtelle the public sees a fine example of judicial integrity in strict devotion to his oath of office and his duty to the public. All persons of good heart will sympathize with the extraordinary stress that the circumstances put upon his affection for his long-time friend, but they will also feel a thrill of admiration for the almost Roman honor with which he met his duty and performed it.

There is a general consensus, too, that more men of like sternness of judicial integrity are needed upon the benches of the nation, and in the offices of governors holding pardoning power, when men are convicted of calculated and cold-blooded crimes such as dope-prescribing and bootlegging.

Anticipating a record Christmas mailing the postal department printed an additional four billion stamps, which should, at least, take care of the Christmas cards.

It is estimated that the human body is worth between $12 and $16

A FIVE OR THREE PACT.

Coming out of Washington and from over the Atlantic are intimations that the much-touted naval limitations conference at London may not result in an agreement between the five main powers—the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy. The two last named are at loggerheads over their claimed necessities in the way of naval armaments. Each of them enters into the conference with the belief it essential to their safety to have more formidable naval equipment than the other.

The greater nations do not see the needs of France and Italy in their lights, but think it both possible, profitable and pacific to limit their naval strengths by a fair proportioning between all five powers. "If, however, France and Italy will not agree to that rationing, it is proposed that the three greater powers agree among themselves, leaving the other two out of the pact. That result should be an ominous sign to both France and England. Without saying so in plain words, it should intimate to them that the three great powers will not suffer them to make a war between themselves which would inevitably bring on another world war.

Mankind generally is deadily opposed to the coming of any such war and there will certainly be a fearful vengeance taken upon those alleged diplomats and politicians in whatever country who start any such conflagration. So, if needs be, the three-power pact should be formed and mean quick punishment to any war-maker among civilized men.

FARMERS FLOURISH SOME.

The recent October report of the economic bureau of the department of labor should be heartening to the farm industry of the nation. The statistical position of the farmers has been steadily improving since 1926.

The report shows that, using the price level of 1926, the value of farm products is now 3.9 per cent above it and that of non-agricultural products is 5.7 per cent below it. That reveals an improvement by a total of 9.6 per cent in favor of the farmers of the country generally. The benefits of this nearly 10 per cent in the purchasing power of farm products have enabled the farmers to keep up their demands upon the manufacturers, with the consequence that most of them have been notoriously thriving in the meanwhile. The reductions shown by non-agricultural commodities reflect the effects of improved methods of production and distribution.

Now that great volumes of money are being withdrawn from stock speculations there are reasons to look confidently for larger prosperities in both fields of production. Farm lands are showing increased requests and the makers of farm machinery report wider and larger sales. So that the general outlook for agriculture is really rosy.

BOOTLEGGING OF LABOR.

Every weekday some 7,000 persons cross from Canada into the Detroit district alone to work in the employments of that district and displace that many American workers. The department of labor at Washington has taken up this enormous bootlegging of alien labor that is going on all along the Canadian border, especially into our industrial areas and is contemplating the imposition of the regulation visa fee of $10 and the head tax of $8 whenever one of those aliens cross the international boundary to go to work.

Of course those exactions would be absolutely prohibitive, but they are what our immigration laws imperatively demand, and there is no sound reason why they should not be drastically enforced. Those laws were enacted expressly to protect American labor from influxes of alien competitive workers. Those workers who find it convenient and cheap to live in Canada and yet enjoy the good jobs and good wages on this side of the line, with no obligation to this country and no payments for its support, should be rigidly excluded.

The supreme court of the United States in a test case has decided that our immigration authorities may lawfully exclude them, for most of them are neither legal citizens of Canada or the United States, but are aliens to both countries. Justly, then, these bootlegger laborers should be shut out of our labor markets.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Holland's "Beethoven."

The third volume of Rolland's work on Beethoven has been completed by the author, and the English translation is now ready. It is a book better known than the time when I sang my adolescent hymn, writes Rolland in the preface, referring to the life of the composer. He was in his youth, and that started him on the path to glory. If it was under the sign of Beethoven that Rolland made his debut, he has achieved a wondrous serenity under the aegis, for the hope and consolation of mankind. For just at this moment when men are dreaming again and have actually pronounced their thought with the words: "United States of Europe," it should be remembered that Beethoven had already dedicated a hymn to the "eternity of peace." Some critics call the new book "cyclopean," that is to say titanic. Some speak of a Herculean figure that the author has produced. Mirabeau, Danton and Napoleon.

U. S. of Europe.

A suggestion that the idea of a United States of Europe should first be tried on a miniature scale between three Scandinavian countries, Sweden, Norway and Denmark, is made by Dr. Ivan Bratt, the Swedish publisher. "Within the League of Nations," says Dr. Bratt, in the Dagens Nyheter, "it is permitted to make regional agreements, as steps toward a general peace pact. Similarly, I believe that the regions of agreement for the facilitation of trade would serve as steps toward a more rational international exchange of goods. The method as regards the people of states seems to me to be obvious. Why could we not organize inter-Scandinavian economic congresses or assemblies, where each country would call to them, companies of businessmen or other economically trained people from the three countries, with sessions recurring at regular intervals? Naturally, they would not have final powers of decision, but they could formulate resolutions, based on thorough discussions, and submit them to their respective governments for consideration. Above all we must try to make our own contribution to the solution of this great problem, and not merely wait for the great powers to do it. We must have an air of self-complacency, not seldom found in a nation which a kind fate has saved from the trials of a world war. For such a nation, the economic peace of the world is a matter of life and death, and the most likely to achieve something practical. They should lead the way."

Tampering With Noodles.

The recent experience of two young American anthropologists should be a warning to all who are inclined to think that the measurement of heads has, in the eyes of officials, no influence on nationality. According to a dispatch in a London daily, the two anthropologists left America to examine the heads of Albania, and found exactly to what extent these are brachycephalic. They found the Albanian population very delighted to have itself so recorded, and quickly finished their measurements. Then they followed the tracks of the "Alpine wide heads" over the frontier into the south of Yugoslavia. The Jugo-Slav peasants, who had no objection to make, but the local county prefect had, for the two anthropologists were promptly arrested and brought before the prefect, were told in no equivocal terms that their "infernal purpose" was clear. They were out to prove by head measurements that the Jugo-Slavs of those parts are really Albanians. The prefect understood that the Jugo-Slav authorities would not have the heads of its faithful subjects tampered with, he regarded, highly amused, the seal of a country patriot, has apologized to the anthropologists and given them a permit.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

SOMETIMES IT IS A HAIR OF THE COW THAT NURTURES YOU.

Everybody has heard more or less about people who suffer from asthma whenever they are approached by a cat, whether they are aware of the feline's proximity or not. Most persons are familiar with instances of asthma brought on by contact with horses. Nowadays we are beginning to look upon nearly all cases of asthma, hives, angioneurotic edema (swellings), hyperesthetic rhinitis, and hay fever, as of similar origin; that is, what doctors call allergic source, caused by contact with some substance which gains entrance to the blood through some other route than normal digestion. Then, too, modern investigation shows that the cause may be the cause of a good many cases of eczema, of recurring bronchitis, and other obstinate troubles that are too numerous to list. The system, or some such fancy, without even a chemical examination of the blood to sustain the idea.

In examining patients who are subject to, say, asthma, the physician who is skilled in making the skin tests usually declines to apply any tests during an attack; he knows that the patient is likely to be immune during an attack; therefore he insists on waiting for the interval between attacks, when the patient's susceptibility is likely to produce a local reaction when applied to the skin scratch.

Dr. T. Wood Clarke reports an instructive case, which shows that the degree of sensitivity is sometimes complex. A child 22 months old had had three attacks of asthma and then developed eczema of face, arms and legs, so that when he was brought to the hospital there was not sufficient normal skin to make the tests on. But after a few weeks of dieting, omitting eggs, the child was brought back with a small patch of normal skin on the back. The mother lined the baby's wool clothes with silk to keep the wool from irritating the skin. A series of 72 skin tests were made, and the following items gave positive reactions: Barley, bean, egg white, peach, peanut, radish, wheat, corn, cat hair, cattle hair, horse dander, and silk. Mother was instructed to remove silk linings from clothes. Father was advised to keep baby away from horse, cat and cattle. Family doctor administered a course

One of Atlanta's Favorite Bankers and His Fifty Years of Service.

It is a badge of distinction to any man who has served half a century in an institution, public or private, where devotion to duty, high efficiency and a strict integrity of character are the credentials to perfect confidence.

When you go into the newly formed and mammoth First National Bank of Atlanta—the merger of the Atlanta National and the Fourth National—and buy a check, you will be handed a finely printed bank paper signed by "D. B. DeSaussure, assistant cashier." But few Atlantans are left who personally remember, as this writer does, that it was back in 1879, in October, I think, that "D. B." entered the service of the original Atlanta National bank, then on Alabama street east of Whitehall street.

He was an alert young man then and has been steadily on duty ever since at the Atlanta National, the Atlanta and Lowry, and now holding fast in his important office with the big First National. He began under General Austin, founder and president of the Atlanta National, the first of its order in the south, and with the greatly beloved Paul Romare, its second president, he has survived many honored officials of Atlanta banking world and is yet strong and active.

One of Those Who Belong. It is not the policy of the managers of public financial institutions dependent upon the favor of the people for patronage and prosperity to keep in contact with their clientele anyone who is persona non grata with the public. A bank needs efficient and unimpeachable officers, and to place its good reputation and its credit in the hands of a man who is persona non grata with the public is a sure way to ruin it. Mr. DeSaussure is a man of high character and high ability, and he has been a member of the bank's board of directors for many years.

plows reached them near Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich. The heavy rainings were posted along the shorelines on the Great Lakes and lake shipping virtually was at a standstill. The 13th snowstorm of the year dumped about eight inches of snow on the streets of Denver, Col. Automobile traffic in the city was paralyzed while highways in all directions were blocked.

A sharp wind whipped the storm to the east, smothering much of Kansas and Nebraska in a shroud of swirling snow. In the city of St. Louis, a coating of sleet and ice in many places, making automobile travel doubly hazardous.

In Minnesota the weather markers showed a shift to near zero temperatures again while a heavy blizzard added to suffering and difficulties. The weather bureau said that during the 108th anniversary of the war, probably to four above before morning. A blinding snowstorm which started yesterday continued intermittently through the day, with sleet and sideways with slick coatings of ice. Five persons were killed in traffic accidents and many more were injured.

MORE SEVERE COLD FOR EASTERN U. S. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(United Press.) A wet, heavy snow blanketed the city and the east late today, and weather bureau observers described the fall as being a mere interlude between the cold snap of the past week and the more severe frigid spell, due within 24 hours.

While railroad traffic was delayed considerably in and around New York by the first severe snowstorm of the season, serious inconveniences were reported. Starting as a cold drizzle, changing to sleet and then to snow, the storm began shortly before noon today and tonight the snow was still falling. It was said at the weather bureau here that the snowstorm is general in the east, and that it may continue for 18 hours or more.

The temperature throughout the east hovered about the freezing point, but a rapid drop probably will come tomorrow. Snow started falling earlier in the day in the western part of New York state, around Buffalo. Many highways were closed today and were reported blocked by huge drifts. The storm was more serious in the Toronto vicinity, where highway officials reported snows from six to eight feet deep, covering Ontario roads at some points.

Icy Gales. Icy gales and heavy snow on the Atlantic are impeding the progress of ocean liners. The first liner to reach New York today was the Transylvania, a day behind schedule. The Franconia and the Berlin also arrived, 24 hours late. The Roussillon, four days overdue, docked tonight.

The Minnetonka, Penland and Cedric, all a day late, will arrive tomorrow and the Cleveland, due today, will not reach port until Wednesday. The Vulcania, with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tunney as passengers, was due in port yesterday, but will not arrive until some time tomorrow. The Edison, due last Saturday, is expected in tomorrow.

Eczema rapidly improved and had practically disappeared in a few weeks, but the asthma continued until silk inoculations were begun. So impressed were the parents that when a second child showed slight roughening of the skin of the face, they brought the infant for skin tests, and the tests showed the infant sensitive to cattle hair, cow's milk, goat's milk, egg-white, coconut and radish. These they have avoided, and the child has remained well.

program will be by Harry O. Mitchell, district manager of the United States department of commerce, while the Spanish announcements will be given by Dr. Oscar R. Morales, Cuban consul at Atlanta.

Many Tickets Sold.

It was reported Monday that sale of tickets for the basketball game between the Havana Yacht Club and the Georgia Military Academy on the night of December 4, and for the night football game between the Cuban Athletic Club and the academy team December 5, had progressed favorably in the past week, and a large crowd was expected for both events. Inclement weather here for the last few days has proved a handicap to some extent both in the ticket selling campaign and in the final practices of the Military academy football team, but clearing skies and milder weather have been greeted by cool fair weather on their arrival.

The special committee, which will meet the Cuban party and escort it to Atlanta, plans to leave here early Wednesday morning, about 40 miles south of Atlanta. There all details of baggage and hotel accommodation will be disposed of, so that no time will be lost in starting the entertainment program when the delegation reaches here. A number of Spanish interpreters has been engaged to facilitate conversations between the Georgians and those of the visiting party who do not speak English.

STIMSON CALLS FOR PEACE IN ORIENT

way they carry out their promises under the anti-war pact. In a subsequent informal discussion of the situation with news correspondents, Mr. Stimson explained today that while there is a basis for criticism by each power of the other, it was not the part of the United States to get itself up as a judge or arbiter of the dispute, but to take all possible measures to mass world opinion against war. He compared the sparks of war in the situation with those igniting a prairie fire, which, he said, always held the danger of spreading far beyond its origin. The method of prevention of war in which the United States is interested, he said, is solely by public opinion and not by intervention or the intrusion of the government into the causes of the conflict.

Stimson's Statement. The action of the United States was simply to inform public opinion and give it an opportunity to express itself, the secretary added. A statement by him tonight summarizing the situation and giving the text of the note sent to China and Russia, follows:

"We have been engaged in discussions with the governments of several of the other powers signatory to the pact of Paris in regard to the situation in Manchuria. During the past few days organized Russian forces have been in conflict with organized Chinese forces near Dailin in northern Manchuria. It is credibly reported that many casualties occurred and that thousands of the inhabitants of the neighboring towns have been driven from their homes. Although the causes of the conflict are in dispute and the accounts are somewhat contradictory, it is clear that serious encounters between military forces of China and Russia have occurred. It is also clear that during the month since this controversy began an effective steps have been taken by the Chinese and Russian governments looking toward an arbitration of the dispute or its settlement through neutral conciliation or other pacific means. The efficacy of the pact of Paris depends upon the sincerity of the governments which are party to it. Sole sanction lies in the power of public opinion of the countries, confederating substantially the entire civilized world, whose governments have joined in the covenant. If the recent events in Manchuria are allowed to stand without notice or protest by any of these governments, the intelligent strength of the public opinion of the world in support of peace can not but be impaired.

"We have found in our discussions referred to above community of view with regard to the fundamental principles. There has been in these discussions no suggestion of intervention of any kind. Discussions have been directed to discovering the best means of expressing the opinion of each of the nations by way of remonstrating against the use of force by either side in this controversy.

"The government of the United States has sent to China and Russia the following statement: "The government and people of the United States have observed with apprehension concern the course of events in relations between China and Russia in the phase which has developed in reference to the situation in northern Manchuria since July 10. "On July 13 this government took steps, through conversations between the secretary of state and the diplomatic representatives at Washington of five points, to see that the attention of the Chinese and the Russian governments be called to the provisions of the treaty for the renunciation of war, which both China and Russia are signatories. Both the Russian and the Chinese governments have made formal and public assurances that neither would resort to war unless attacked. Since that time that treaty has been ratified by no less than 65 powers, including China and Russia.

"The American government desires again to call attention to the provisions of the treaty for the renunciation of war, particularly to Article II, which reads, 'The high contracting parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means,' and the American government takes occasion to express its earnest hope that China and Russia will refrain or desist from measures of hostility and that it is possible in the near future by peaceful means the issues over which they are present in controversy. The American government feels that the respect with which China and Russia will hereafter be guided in their conduct will necessarily in great measure depend upon the way in which they carry out these most sacred promises."

POLICE SEEK DRIVER IN SULLIVAN KILLING

Working on all possible angles in the death of Samuel H. Sullivan, 29, of 234 Haralson avenue, who was killed Sunday night in what was believed to have been an effort to regain his car from the hands of a thief, detectives late Monday night still were conducting a wide search for the driver of the car.

Sullivan met his death when he was brushed from the running board of his own car on Ponce de Leon avenue, as it was driven into a telephone pole near the Sears-Robuck plant. Firemen, answering a false alarm nearby, saw the accident and stated that a man jumped from behind the wheel and ran.

Detectives P. L. Higgins and L. D. Cody have been working on the case since Sullivan died at Grady hospital without a statement.

His activity of the evening was traced, and it was found that he had left his home with a relative, but left the latter to visit a friend. Questioning of both men failed to reveal any new evidence.

Funeral services were held at 1 o'clock Monday from the funeral parlors of Blanchard Brothers, Inc., the Rev. J. G. Gassen and the Rev. T. R. Kendall officiating. Interment was in West View.

Sullivan is survived by his mother, Mrs. Georgia Bolle Fulbright, and two sisters, Mrs. Grace Ashmore and Miss Barbara Fulbright, all of Atlanta.

DELAY IN VARE FIGHT IN SENATE WILL BE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Postponement of the Vare case in the senate until next week will be proposed tomorrow when the resolution to deny the Pennsylvania a senate seat comes up by previous agreement.

The delay will be asked to give the elections committee an opportunity to report on the contest brought against Senator-elect William S. Vare by William B. Wilson, his democratic opponent in the 1926 Pennsylvania election.

Vare came to the city today to oppose the double attack against him in the senate. He is a member of the senate from Pennsylvania, that he would take advantage of the senator's offer to appear on the floor and defend himself. He was denied the oath of office two years ago pending a decision of the case against him.

Lewis was appointed by J. D. Huckleby, president of the club, to work in conjunction with the councilmanic body.

John D. Rockefeller, Third, Will Enter Father's Employ To Prepare for Management

Young Man Will Be 'Just One of Staff' and Will Get No Favors, Father Says.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(United News.)—John D. Rockefeller, third of that name, will enter his father's employ at 25 Broadway within the next week with the eventual idea of heading the vast Rockefeller enterprises built up by his grandfather.

In making his announcement to the press this afternoon he said he would not attempt to specialize in any particular field of the Rockefeller organization until he had spent some time in looking over the whole field.

"I want John to do what he is most interested in and what he is best fitted to do," said his father, who was present at the interview. "In no other manner will I attempt to mould his career."

In reply to a query about salary, John D. 2d, said his son would receive no more than any other young man entering the Rockefeller employ.

"If you visualize John starting in at a five or ten thousand-dollar job," the father said, "you are far from the truth."

John D. 3d, is 23. He is larger than his father and has escaped the publicity usually given sons of rich men. Since graduation from Princeton he has been touring Europe and the Orient.

He acted as secretary to J. G. MacDonald, chairman of the Foreign Policy Association of America, and attended the Institute of Pacific Relations at Kyoto, Japan.

Today he occupied his father's suite on the 20th floor of the Standard Oil building but said he would not have a large office tomorrow.

Today's meeting with the press was called by Mr. Rockefeller, 2d, as John's first meeting with newspapermen, and he said he hoped his son's relations would prove as agreeable as his own. During the interview young John's father acted as his son's counsel.

When one newspaperman asked the young man if he were in favor of the United States entering the League of Nations, his father intervened.

"Don't you think that is a rather heavy question to ask a young man who is just beginning and is studying such problems, before giving an answer to a question of that nature?" said the present head of the Rockefeller organization.

"John will be on the job here, you may count on that," he continued, "and he will come in to work when the office opens just as everyone else does."

BETHLEHEM ACQUIRES PACIFIC STEEL PLANTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(United News.)—The Bethlehem Steel Corporation has extended its operations to the Pacific coast through the acquisition of all the properties and assets of the Pacific Coast Steel Company and the Southern California Iron & Steel Company, it was announced here today.

Properties to be acquired include steel manufacturing plants located at San Francisco and Los Angeles, California, and Seattle, Wash., having a steel ingot capacity of 350,000 gross tons per year.

Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, who is in San Francisco, made the announcement through the New York office of the company.

In line with the United States Steel Corporation's recent policy in expanding its west coast operations through the acquisition of the Columbia Steel Corporation, Bethlehem Steel officials gave similar reasons for this expansion.

"The Bethlehem officials for some years past," said Grace's statement, "have studied the steel situation on the Pacific coast with a view to establishing manufacturing plants in that rapidly growing section of the country. The properties to be acquired will be operated through a separate subsidiary company having an active management with headquarters on the Pacific coast."

"It will be Bethlehem's policy to develop the properties to the fullest extent for local and economic production, supplementing this production with products shipped by water from Bethlehem's eastern steel plants. With this combination of resources and opportunities, Bethlehem will be able more advantageously and effectively to serve the Pacific coast territory with a full line of steel products."

BOARD WILL PROTECT GRAIN ELEVATOR MEN

Announces Determination To Fight Effort of Dealers To Force Contracts.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Farmers' National Grain Corporation has been given funds and authority by the farm board to protect elevator men in the wheat country from having to sign long-term contracts with commission grain dealers or have their loans called by those dealers.

Chairman Legge said today that the grain corporation, or its subsidiary marketing agencies in the northwest, would be ready to meet any demand promptly if it became necessary.

The chairman said reports had reached the board that a determined effort was going to be made by commission dealers to sew up elevator owners for long periods on contracts forced by a threat of calling loans.

Wherever an elevator owner is in difficulty, he said, the grain corporation would investigate and each case would be settled on its merits. If the elevator owner can qualify as a borrower under the agricultural marketing act, he probably will be able to obtain loans from the co-operative sales agency operating in his immediate territory.

The board has heard, Mr. Legge said, that grain dealers have called their traveling agents from the road and had a program outlined to them calling for country elevator owners to sign a five-year contract, or have their loans from the dealers called at once.

The board today approved a commodity loan of $300,000 to the Farmers' Union Terminal Association, of St. Paul, Minn., to be used to pay advances to grower members under the farm board's wheat loan policy.

A line of credit of not more than $5,000,000 for the Western Cattle Marketing Association also was approved. The money is to be used to pay advances to grower members of the association to be used to pay advances to grower members under the farm board's wheat loan policy.

27-Year Struggle Successful, Victory Is Monument To Faith Of Pastor Glore Immanuel Baptist Dedicated

BY HELEN AND OLIVE PARISH.

After a struggle for existence lasting for 27 years, during which period a church-hungry congregation passed through every vicissitude from financial straits to almost superstitious restoration, the Immanuel Baptist church was finally dedicated Sunday through the efforts of J. P. Glore, the present pastor.

The battle is won, and Mr. Glore, who has served gratuitously for the past seven years, and personally under took the debt of the church, can at last give the long-suffering group a church of their own, and definitely leave his business preoccupations to devote all his time to tending his flock.

In 1902 the church was built, under the direction of C. S. Goodwin, the first pastor, and for six years was under construction. More than 11 years ago it was sold to the Fulton Box and Cotton Mills, because of an unpaid loan.

Moving pictures were shown in the building and the former congregation turned out en masse to witness the new attraction. During the first few shows, nearly 10 people were taken ill at the theater, tradition recounts.

Considered a Punishment.

This was considered a punishment sent upon the erstwhile churchgoers for "desecrating the house of God." The cinemas proved a dismal failure and were stopped within a month. Thereupon mill officials nailed up the church windows and doors, and the edifice lay idle for three years. Its only occupants during this time were a gloomy quartet of bats, that hung—spread-winged and ominous—from the rafters, and a few mice that scurried in and out on the floor beneath.

Seven years ago Mr. Glore bought the property back for the church, signing his name to 72 notes, which at last have been entirely paid. This was the first pastorate of Atlanta's "businessman preacher," who has continued his work in real estate and building while carrying on the church work without remuneration.

Faith in Human Nature.

"Perhaps it was my faith in human nature that made me take the step I did," says Mr. Glore, "but, to say it briefly, this was one of those things that I believed in and I believed in it."

Mr. Glore first came in contact with the parishioners of the churchless parish at a tent meeting conducted by Vellhorn Head. So anxious were the parishioners for a church, that 103 were baptized in the first three months.

According to Mr. Glore, "I am the happiest man in Atlanta who does not weigh more than 137 pounds. I attribute the success and prosperity of my little church to the great loyalty of its people."

SING SING CONVICT, KILLED IN PRISON; FOUR INMATES HELD

OSSENING, N. Y., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Four inmates of Sing Sing prison were in solitary confinement today while prison authorities sought the slayer of a young convict who was stabbed to death as he stood in line with 1,720 of his fellows.

Rodin Kaminetsky, 17 years old, of Brooklyn, serving seven and one-half to fifteen years for robbery, left with four stab wounds near his heart yesterday. The inmates were about to be marched into the auditorium to witness a performance of the annual Sing Sing play, "Good News."

A dozen guards ran to Kaminetsky when he fell. He died 15 minutes later without regaining consciousness. Prisoners who had been standing near him all professed to have seen nothing.

WINTER MANEUVERS OF ARMY AND NAVY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Orders for a series of five minor joint army and navy maneuvers in Panama, the Philippines, Hawaii, and on the harbor defenses of Long Island Sound and San Francisco, have been issued at the navy and war departments.

The first maneuvers will be in Panama from February 25 until March 10, with the battle fleet participating. The maneuvers on Long Island, in which the scouting fleet will participate, will be held in May and those in San Francisco in which the battle fleet will take part in July.

The Asiatic fleet and the naval forces at Pearl harbor, will join in the Philippine and Hawaiian exercises, the dates of which have not been arranged.

Actual war conditions will be simulated as far as practicable during the maneuvers, which will continue day and night. Air combats between the air forces of the two services will be used.

Modern Caveman Fails to Subdue Canadian Wilds

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(United News.)—Nature apparently was a decision on points from Burt M. McConnell, "modern caveman," who went into the Canadian wilds September 25 to live on a living from the forest.

McConnell returned here today with a slight limp, caused by a blister, a large fold of loose skin where his excess abdominal flesh had been, a ravenous appetite and material for a novel.

He understood McConnell would go into the woods naked and without equipment, remain three months, and emerge fully clad and beating his chest in triumph at having proven a modern caveman could do as well as his cavemen ancestors in the elemental struggle for life.

McConnell compromised first on nudity, deciding to wear running pants and athletic shirt. He compromised on equipment by carrying an efficient modern axe. He obtained his only clothing by appropriating a moose skin which Indians had left in the woods for safekeeping. And he compromised, apparently, on elapsed time by remaining a few days more than two months in his forest home.

During his stay the modern caveman lived on a few rabbits, birds and fish—the only forest denizens who by succumbing to his traps and his little bow and arrow proved themselves less fitted to survive than he.

On his way back to civilization McConnell developed a blister on his foot and had to be dragged in by sledge by a forest ranger who found him in an abandoned hut.

Announcement of the project was made today by Tom Smith, of Clewiston, originator of the plan, who said arrangements have been made for a Goodbye bazaar to lead the procession. The plane of B. G. Dahlberg, president of the Southern Sugar Company, will also take part, Smith said.

Celebration of Everglades Day at Miami, will be marked by addresses by prominent men of the state and Union.

JUDGE SETS ASIDE DIVORCE GRANTED DRY AGENT'S WIFE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The divorce granted by Judge Walter Gleason in civil district court and a new trial ordered.

Judge Gleason held that the verdict of the jury was improper as Mrs. Jackson's testimony was unsupported by other witnesses and it was a case of the husband's testimony against the wife. Mrs. Jackson testified that the prohibition administrator had threatened her life with a pistol and a butcher knife and that he had exposed her to public ridicule.

Governor Demands Legislature Lift Tennessee Deficit

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Governor Henry Horton told the extraordinary session of the Tennessee legislature today that it was his duty as "patriots and servants of the people" to provide means for lifting the state deficit.

In his message, he asked for taxes on cosmetics, admissions to amusements and on motor and lubrication oils, doubling of the one-cent per cigarette tax, extension of the excise tax on automobiles, and a more effective enforcement method for collecting the tobacco and inheritance taxes.

A general financial statement of the state, distributed to the legislators, anticipated a deficit of $4,982,340.26 before the 1931 legislature convenes. Governor Horton's program contemplates the meeting of this deficit within a year, and then to divert the increased revenues to repeal of the 20-cent land tax.

MEETING TO DISCUSS COLLEGE LOAN FUNDS

Representatives of Various Organizations To Gather at Luncheon Wednesday.

Representatives of the various trusts and funds which help deserving boys and girls through college by making them loans have been invited to a luncheon conference to be given by Cator Woolford at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The work of the various funds are being discussed, and it is expected that each organization will profit by the experience of others. A number of college officials also have been invited to the luncheon.

Hundreds of young men and women in Georgia have been enabled to finish their college courses through loans made by these funds, to be repaid from earnings after graduation, and the experience in most of the loans has been excellent, the amounts being paid in installments as rapidly as it was possible for the student to meet his obligations.

Under the plan followed by most of the trusts the funds are "revolving" that is, as fast as loans are repaid the money is set to work with other students. The work is thus perpetual.

Outstanding in the student loan work is the educational fund of the Rotary Club of Atlanta, of which Kendall Weaver is chairman. Its recent report showed that in eight years 383 students had been helped, of which 254 had graduated. Of these, 190 students had fully repaid their loans, while others are being paid off. The fund has increased from its original $770 to $37,333.

Invitations to the luncheon have been sent to representatives of the following student educational loan funds: Atlanta Foundation, W. F. Perkinson; Tucker Foundation, Horton brothers; Lewis H. Beck Fund, Miss Elizabeth Gregg; Rotary Educational Foundation, Kendall Weisiger; Jewish Educational Alliance, Leo S. Baxter; Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. Arthur Shulaker; Commercial High School Alumni Association, W. C. Lowry; Knights Templar Loan Fund, Thomas C. Law; Girls' High School Alumnae Association, Miss Jessie Muse; Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, Mr. and Mrs. Davis Woodward.

Individuals invited include Lee Ashcraft, Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia School of Technology; Dr. J. R. McCain, president, Agnes Scott college; Dr. Harvey W. Cox and Dean Comer Woodward, Emory University; Chancellor Charles M. Stelling, University of Georgia; Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, Oglethorpe University; Mrs. J. K. Otley, Mrs. E. K. Large, W. H. Smith, George H. Phillips, Dr. Willis A. Sutton, Mrs. W. F. Askew and Miss Irene Caldwell.

BANDIT CONFESSES WRECKING TRAIN IN CALIFORNIA

PAWNEE, Okla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—

Tom Vernon, former rodeo rider, arrested here last night in connection with a train robbery in California, and another later in Wyoming, tonight confessed to the wrecking and robbery of a train in California, Alton N. Jones, Pawnee county sheriff, said.

Vernon, Sheriff Jones said, denied any part in the holdup a week ago today near Cheyenne, Wyo., however, and said he would fight extradition to Wyoming on that charge. He told the sheriff he was willing to go to California to face a charge of robbing a train near Saugus, Cal., November 10, and would not oppose extradition to that state.

In his confession Vernon told the sheriff he robbed the train because he was out of work and needed money. He had been promised a job by the railroad company, he said, and "had been disappointed."

Playing a lone hand, Vernon said he wrecked and robbed the train and made his escape without aid.

TWO FLORIDA BANKS, CLOSED FOR MONTHS, PAY DEPOSITORS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—

Money flowed through the teller windows of the Peoples bank here for the first time since the institution closed during the summer, long lines of depositors receiving a 20 per cent dividend in time for Christmas needs. Joseph R. Dunn, receiver of the bank, said that 1,744 claims already had been approved and passed by the state banking department. It was to these the money went today, but others will receive a like dividend as soon as their claims are filed. Over $600,000 in deposits is concerned.

DELAND, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—

Dividend checks amounting to approximately $150,000 will be ready tomorrow for distribution for the depositors of the closed First National bank, M. G. McNair, federal receiver, announced today.

The dividend is 10 per cent and is the first to be paid since the bank closed July 11, last.

FINAL VICTIM OF TRAIN WRECK IS IDENTIFIED

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 2.—(AP)—William G. Casebeer, traveling machinist of Cincinnati and Philadelphia, was positively identified this afternoon as one of the nine persons killed in the wreck of the Pennsylvania railroad excursion train near Onley, Va., yesterday morning. His was the last of the unidentified white bodies.

Planning to begin work in Norfolk this morning, Casebeer was making a week-end trip to Philadelphia in order to see his mother who he said was seriously ill there.

The identification was effected through the efforts of J. H. Walters, adjutant of American Legion post here, by means of a Masonic emblem bearing the initials "W. C." the letters "W. G. C." tattooed on his arm, and papers in his pockets.

Walters recognized the marks from the description published in a local newspaper this morning and later announced that the identification was made positive by papers found in the dead man's pockets.

Mrs. Casebeer was notified at her home, 225 Sturges avenue, Cincinnati.

SUIT TO CANCEL THREE OIL LEASES STARTS ON COAST

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—(AP)—

Suit by the United States government to cancel three oil leases covering 600 acres in Kern county held by the Pan-American Petroleum Company and valued at $15,000,000 began in federal court here today before Judge Frank H. Norcross, of Nevada.

At the opening the court asked Atlee A. Pomerene, chief of government counsel and former United States senator from Ohio, to make a complete outline of the case, which is one more move to clean up the oil lease scandals of the Harding administration.

Neither of the principals or Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, under whose authorization the leases were granted, was in court for the opening session. However, Doherty was represented by two attorneys, Norman S. Sperry and Frank J. Hogan.

Trial of the suit is expected to require about two weeks. The government charges the three leases were obtained through fraud, and seeks, in addition to cancellation, an accounting for profits gained from the lands by the Pan-American company since the leases were granted.

VICTIMS IDENTIFY FOUR SUSPECTS IN GEM ROBBERY

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 2.—(AP)—

Identified positively by victims of the robbery at the home of John L. C. son, November 14, in which $250,000 in gems were taken from guests, four suspects were lodged in jail this afternoon after pleading not guilty to a charge of first degree robbery before County Judge F. B. Thorne.

They will be placed on trial probably within the next two weeks. A confession, involving the suspects, who are Harry Radcliffe, alias Clinton "Red" Duke, accused leader of the gang; William Cynor, alias Bill Seiner; Edward Pryor and Theodore Rogacki, was said to have been made by Wellington Thayer, Michigan avenue garage proprietor.

ALABAMA SOLON WINS SUIT FOR WIFE'S DEBT

Justice Rules Husbands Who Provide Not Liable for Extravagances.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(United News.)—Husbands with extravagant wives won a victory today in District of Columbia court of appeals.

Justice Charles H. Robb handed down a decision in a case involving a congressman, Representative George Huddleston, democrat, Alabama, holding that a husband is not liable for debts of his wife, charged to his credit, if he provides her with ample funds to pay cash for necessary clothing.

The judge exonerated Huddleston of a debt of $245 owed to the Saks Fur Company, which was the balance on a purchase by his wife of a fur coat and a fox scarf totaling $235. She paid eight dollars cash. The congressman claimed he gave his wife $75 a month in cash for her expenses and had forbidden her to pledge his credit. Huddleston won a judgment in the municipal court, from which appeal was taken to the court of appeals.

Judge Robb delved back into numerous English and American cases in reaching his decision that when a husband once has performed his duty to provide for his wife, he can not be compelled by a court to do it again.

This rule, he said, is "just and salutary."

"Its tendency will be to check extravagance (one of the most pronounced of modern evils), and at the same time protect thousands who, in good faith, have made such provisions for their wives as their means and station in life warranted, from debts thoughtlessly and needlessly contracted often beyond the capacity of the husband to pay."

"Moreover, it does not require the discernment of a Solomon to appreciate that the unauthorized purchase of goods by a wife, whose husband has adequately provided for her, inevitably will have a tendency to disturb and possibly disrupt their conjugal relations."

FARM PRICE LEVEL 4 POINTS LOWER THAN LAST MONTH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—

The general level of farm prices on November 15 was four points lower than the general level on October 15 but two points higher than on November 15, 1928.

The department of agriculture announced today that the decline from October 15 to November 15 was the result of a general and widespread downward price movement of most farm products. The principal exceptions to the downward movement were advances in the farm price of eggs and a slight upward tendency shown by hay prices.

Grains were down 10 points; fruits and vegetables down 9 points; cotton and cottonseed down 8 points, and meat animals down 7 points. Prices of poultry products advanced 19 points and dairy products were up 1 point above the October 15 level.

An Open Letter to all who receive Christmas Savings Fund Checks

Today—or tomorrow at the latest—a real thrill is coming your way. If you are one of the thousands who have been putting aside weekly savings into a Christmas Savings Fund, you will receive a check for a lump sum of sufficient size to help Santa Claus bring Christmas cheer to your home.

We congratulate you on the thought that prompted you to start last year to "Save for Next Christmas." The check which you will receive today or tomorrow from some bank will bring you happiness.

You deserve it.

No doubt, there was many a time when even though the amount was small that you had to put away, you had a hard time meeting the issue.

But you did it. You showed that small obstacles meant nothing to you—that you could override them. You sowed seeds early in the year—you cultivated the ground throughout the year—and now you are reaping the harvest by receiving a nice Christmas Savings Check.

The next big question is—"What are you going to do with your Christmas money?" You used good judgment in saving it. May we suggest to you that you use just as good judgment in spending it. Of course, it is your money—yours to do with as you like—but would it not be wonderful if you could buy with it (or part of it) a gift that would bring pleasure, not only to yourself, but to all of your family—a gift that would last, not only during the Christmas Season, but for many years to come—a gift that would never grow tiresome nor old? That gift is a Majestic Radio whose colorful tone, whose unlimited powers to bring in any sort of program that fits your mood, will thrill you and others at Christmas and throughout long winter nights to come. In fact, winter and summer, it would be a continuous source of pleasure, offering an endless variety of entertainment and instruction.

Near you there is a Majestic dealer who will send you one of these Mighty Monarchs of the Air for a free home demonstration—who will guarantee to deliver a Majestic to you Christmas Eve or Christmas morning as a happy gift that you can always be proud of.

And please remember that a very small down payment is all that is needed to put this wonderful gift in your home.

You Meet Septics in the movies!

There is a certain fastidiousness which habits of cleanliness cannot achieve alone. The person who sometimes suspect of carelessness may have lashed within the hour. Hygiene is a septic, soap and water will not solve the difficulty. Nor will any refreshing neutralizing unpleasant vapors of the body, or the breath for any length of time.

Nobody is septic by nature. It is a condition anyone can correct. Just a few days are sufficient to take the taint out of perspiration, and render one's breath as pure as can be; and this perfect personal cleanliness made permanent. Ask any doctor—or nurse—about Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

You may not know whether you are a septic. Try Stuart's Calcium Wafers, and see if there is any stagnant matter in the system. Everything will speedily be sweet and clean. Your skin will be less acrid; color improved; this colonic correction even brightens eyes and whitens teeth! And you will save need another harsh cathartic from the time you have learned to prevent even semi-constipation by just occasionally taking a tiny calcium wafer.

STOCK MARKET LOSERS ARE GIVEN 'POVERTY DINNER'

Oil Lamp Is Center Piece On Festive Newman Board

A GROUP of fourteen alleged (I am not so sure) losers during the recent stock market upheaval were entertained recently by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newman at a "poverty dinner," given at their delightful Cherokee road home in Peachtree Heights. In lieu of sumptuous linens, red and white checked oil cloth covered the dining room table. In the place of flowers of the rarest, an old-fashioned oil lamp occupied the place of honor in its center. Old bottles, with candles stuck in them, encircled the lamp. All of this, not to mention the wobbly old-fashioned split bottom chairs in which they were seated, started the affair off with peals of laughter and the most jocular persiflage imaginable. If losers they were (and, as I previously inferred, I doubt it) they were good sports at the game and entirely inclined to consider the fact one of the most amusing and delightful of human experiences.

ISSUE paper napkins were supplied as articles to which poor folks should begin to accustom themselves, and were found, by the stock margin victims, the most desirable articles imaginable. The menu—well, it included everything poor people have learned, through years of denial, to like best in the line of culinary delights. Vegetable soup started the ball rolling. Pork roast with sweet potatoes came next. The menu was amplified, just here with turnips, greens, black-eyed peas, and corn pone. The sweet course was apple pie, whether with cheese or without, I failed to ascertain. But coffee, the eternal standby of rich and poor alike at poverty dinners or at banquets, afforded its soothing balm when its time came.

The consensus of opinion was that no one need fear poverty in the slightest since a repast of such uncostly fare could be made so delectable that it might be the most satisfactory of vegetables inasmuch as once the succulent leaves had duly served their purposes there was always, still remaining, the licker in the pot to look forward to.

NEWS of vital importance to Georgia Tech fans, old and young—particularly the latter—broke Monday. A large number of new Pups have been added to the ranks of the full-grown and dearly beloved Bulldogs. Sunday, it seems, was a great day. All kinds of harrowing tales are afloat as to the ghastly initiative ceremony each of the newcomers had to undergo. Don't credit them for an instant. Every Pup (there were eight of them) did exactly the same thing, each in a different locality. That is, after they all had attended church together and occupied the front pew.

If you were a sub-deb and a Tech boy you knew, or didn't know, came to your house about dinner time, walked in without saying a word, remained until 4 o'clock, never breaking his silence but once, and then to ask your own dear mother how old she was—as if it was any of his business—just what would you have thought? Suppose you had never heard of Pups, Bulldogs or even Georgia Tech? Once at the dinner table, the dumb guest acted in even more inexplicable manner. He turned the back of his chair to the table and straddled it. He ate continuously with his knife; took two helpings of everything; turned a glass of water over the table cloth; wrote on a piece of paper requesting two different kinds of dessert, neither of which was on the menu; put a dime on the table, rose from the seat yawning; observed that it had certainly been a bum meal; took a cheese sandwich out of his pocket and devoured it ravenously.

Just what would you have thought when he continued to sit around as silent as the grave for hours longer, never uttering a word but once, and then to ask your mother the aforesaid question, which she haughtily refused to answer? Perhaps you would have thought, just as the eight girls did who entertained dumb brutes for dinner, Sunday afternoon, that you were pretty sure to receive a bid for the tig Bulldog dance soon to be on the tapis. The eight new Pups initiated Sunday were Vance Marce, Jim Brooke, Robin Paul, Buck

Miss Norcross and Miss Winston Formally Introduced to Society

Mrs. William Roderick Sample and Mrs. Kittle Holt Drewry entertained at a brilliant reception yesterday afternoon followed by a buffet supper last evening at the Piedmont Driving Club, formally introducing to Atlanta society Miss Adeline Winston, daughter of Mrs. Sample, and Miss Catherine Norcross, niece of Mrs. Drewry. The entertainment, which assembled several hundred members of the social contingent, was one of the most elaborate given the season's debutantes. Ferns, palms and foliage plants were effectively used in decoration throughout the ballroom of the club, where the guests were received. The side walls of the hall, window ledges, and the tall white columns which extend the length of the hall were festooned with garlands of southern gown of lace and tulle made with tight waist of lace and silver cloth, the skirt being shirred to the waist and falling in graceful folds, short in front and very long in the back. She carried a feather fan and her bouquet was of orchids. These handsome court gowns were worn by Miss Norcross and Miss Winston last summer when they were presented at the Court of St. James, during their sojourn in London. Miss Norcross is president of this year's Debutante Club.

Receiving Party. The receiving party for this elaborate affair who stood with Miss Norcross, Miss Winston, Mrs. Sample and Mrs. Drewry, were: Miss Frances Patton and Mrs. J. T. Hunt. The bride was lovely in ensemble of brown and tan tweed, with accessories to match, and her shoulder bouquet was of pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley. About Our Editorial of Yesterday

In our editorial of yesterday's Constitution, THE ATLANTA GAS LIGHT COMPANY was inadvertently referred to as the Southern Natural Gas Corporation, so Rich's takes this opportunity to clarify the following facts:

THE ATLANTA GAS LIGHT COMPANY, which is spending in excess of a million and a half dollars in its expansion and improvement program, is the same institution which has served Atlanta for more than three-quarters of a century.

THE ATLANTA GAS LIGHT COMPANY has no connection with the Southern Natural Gas Corporation other than a contract to buy natural gas from their pipe lines.

THE ATLANTA GAS LIGHT COMPANY, in the future as in the past, will continue to distribute gas to its customers in Atlanta but will distribute natural gas instead of manufactured gas as soon as the natural gas becomes available.

THE ATLANTA GAS LIGHT COMPANY is the largest unit in the Southern Cities Public Service Company, which operates gas companies in thirty-three Southern communities, and which is in turn a part of the Central Public Service System which operates utilities in more than four hundred cities in the United States and Canada.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

REDDY TAKES HOME A FEATHER.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

For all you say, pray offer proof. Let people think you try to spoof.

—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox could feel his mouth watering. Perhaps you know what that feels like. Perhaps you have seen something good to eat that you have wanted so very much that your mouth would be very slight, for the farmer went over to a meadow and hunted mice and caught enough to take the edge off his appetite. Then he went back for another look at the turkeys and finally started for home.

When he reached home Mrs. Reddy was already there. She was waiting on the doorstep. She saw that he was carrying something in his mouth and her eyes sparkled. But when Reddy laid it at her feet, all the sparkle disappeared. "Is that all you've got?" said she disappointedly.

"All except a few mice," said Reddy.

"But what is the idea of bringing home a feather to me?" snapped Mrs. Reddy crossly.

"Do you see what kind of a feather it is?" replied Reddy.

"I don't know what kind of a feather it is and I don't want to know."

"When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home"

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any drugstore can supply you with 24 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.—(adv.)
